BURNLEY, England (Reuters)—Sixteen men were killed and 30 injured today when an explosion ripped through a coal mine near this northern English city.

Several men trapped by a gas pocket were rescued by teams of other miners. About 200 men were underground at the time of the explosion.

Algiers Paralyzed By Strike

ALGIER (AP)—Machine-gun and bazooka fire broke out throughout downtown streets tonight. French military sources said the right-wing secret army was attacking military points.

ALGIER (AP)—A general strike by European workers demonstrating their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary-general of the Railway Union Federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

STRUCK MONDAY

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the ceasefire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

The strike movement developed as the French army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the ceasefire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces to clear out of Bab-el-Oued, a workers' quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by noon or be considered as occupying troops. But the government forces stayed put.

French gendarmes and secret army commandos battled openly for two hours in Oran Wednesday. Throughout Wednesday, night Europeans fired from balconies and windows on French army patrols cruising Algiers' deserted streets. Terrorist attacks account for two Moslems dead and four wounded.

Arms Deadlock Tight Despite Green Plea

GENEVA (CP)—Canada today led a revolt against efforts to shove disarmament discussions into the background at the Geneva conference.

External Affairs Minister Green bristled when he heard discussions on disarmament would probably be shelved.

If the talks did not go on, Green said, "all impetus" of the 17-nation conference would be lost.

Green expressed deep disappointment at the delay already incurred. Supporting a previous speaker, he said this may be the last disarmament conference of all time unless some progress is made.

Britain, Mexico and Italy all supported the call for urgency. Despite this, however, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and Russia failed completely in a subcommittee meeting to find any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

After a two-hour, 40-minute meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers to discuss a test ban, Sir Michael Wright of Britain told reporters: "We shall report that we have reached no agreement."

Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin said: "We have reached a complete stalemate... we have found it impossible to agree."

MONTREAL (CP)—A meeting has been arranged for Friday between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the strike-threatened CNR and CPR. It was reported today.

'DON'T YOU DARE'... BUT THEY DID

Furious finger was wagged at press photographers Wednesday by flier Frank G. Penney, Los Angeles, as he walked away from the plane he had just overturned on landing at Torrance airfield. Cameramen ignored his shouted admonition. Penney, 35, and his wife, Susan, 22, suffered minor injuries. Firemen had to pry them loose from the wreckage.

U.S. Kills Red Plans For Berlin Approaches

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that access routes to West Berlin be turned over to the Communist East Germans who would control them under the supervision of an international authority, an American source said. The United States rejected this approach.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made the approach in a private conversation with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, informants said.

It seemed evident the Russians had taken an idea expressed recently by President Kennedy and turned it inside out to meet their own aims. The president had said it might be possible to work out some international arrangements for international supervision of the land, air and water routes linking isolated West Berlin with West Germany, 110 miles away.

Butter Price To Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Government-held butter stocks will be sold at 52 cents a pound, effective May 1, Acting Agriculture Minister Harkness announced today in the Commons. The current price is 64 cents.

He said the retail price of butter should emerge at between 56 and 59 cents a pound.

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming is reported to be planning to lift the tax on exported electricity in his budget.

U.S. Plane Missing

SEATTLE (AP)—A U.S. Navy plane with 10 men aboard was missing today after developing engine trouble on a flight to California. The plane was attached to a naval air reserve training unit.

Fleming Silent

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming declined today to comment on press reports that Premier Bennett of British Columbia has asked the federal government to allow the province to build the Columbia Power project alone.

Students Quit In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters)—Guatemala University students today voted to suspend studies indefinitely and close the university doors until President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes resigns.

They also called for a resistance campaign beginning with the smashing of all street lights in the city.

Syrians Open Fire On Israelis

TEL AVIV (AP)—Syrian positions opened fire this morning on Israeli laborers working in fields of Kfar Szeid settlement, a Galilee village close to the border, official Israeli sources said.

The fire was not returned and there were no casualties, they added. Israel lodged a complaint with a Syrian-Israeli mixed armistice United Nations commission.

Israel also charged that Syrian forces machine-gunned the upper Galilee settlement of Mishmar Hayarden for 15 minutes Wednesday night, again with no casualties.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Premier Maarouf Dawabli accused Israel today of flouting UN resolutions and urged that it be expelled from the United Nations.

BUDGET DURING APRIL MAY BE ELECTION TIP

OTTAWA (UPI)—The latest political rumor here is that Parliament will learn on April 12 the details of a federal budget which it will not live long enough to pass.

Word from Conservative sources which usually are well informed is that Finance Minister Fleming will table his fiscal program just one week before the expected Easter recess.

If the finance minister's proposals are well received by the public, Prime Minister Diefenbaker is said to be ready to dissolve Parliament and use them as an issue in a general election.

Ties Up Assets During Action By B.C. Power

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Supreme Court of British Columbia today placed the B.C. Electric Company under receivership until litigation concerning the company is resolved.

The court appointed Dr. Harry Purdy, a professor of economics at the University of B.C. and former executive of the company, as receiver. He was ordered to post a bond of $1,000,000.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes made the order on application of the B.C. Power Corporation, former parent company of the crown-owned BCE.

In an 18-page judgment, the judge said there was no certainty that the assets "would remain in their present state and under their present control" if a receiver were not appointed.

The order applies to all the property and assets owned by the huge power utility. The receiver will have no part in BCE's management.

Dr. Purdy, president of the BCE before it was taken over by the government last August and vice-president of the publicly-owned BCE until he resigned last December, said he has accepted the appointment.

"I presume I will be getting instructions from the court but until then I don't know much about it," he said.

The government paid B.C. Power $111,000,000 as compensation for its 3,000,000 com-

Appeal Certain —Bonner

To Go Ahead

By FRANK RUTTER

The government plans to appeal today's court order placing B.C. Electric property under receivership.

"An appeal is almost automatic," Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the Times after a cabinet meeting this morning.

At the same time both he and Premier Bennett said the government will go ahead with two power bills in the legislature affecting the B.C. Electric takeover.

They may be pushed through the House today and tonight to protect the government's policy.

While government reaction to today's news was calm, the Opposition was fiery.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan called for an immediate election.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said it showed the B.C. Electric takeover—"has been bungled beyond belief."

The two power bills before the legislature are the key to the government stand.

One finalizes the takeover compensation at $171,000,000 and preserves it against an appeal to the courts; the other merges B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission in a completely new government agency.

Mr. Bonner said the first bill is aimed specifically at protecting the constitutionality of takeover last August 1.

He feels that once this bill becomes law the government would win any court challenge to its constitutionality.

He said the bill does not prevent anyone from contesting this issue in court.

But he pointed out that the government had set its policy in the Legislature—supreme law in B.C.—and was confident it was not acting beyond its powers.

"Government policy has been announced; it is before the House; it will be maintained," he said.

"We have no desire to act beyond the Legislature's competence."

"But obviously the government believes we have acted within its competence."

PEACE IN DOUBT

One aspect of the receivership which is as yet unanswered is the effect on going ahead with the Peace River

SLEEPWALKER NEAR DEATH IN NIGHTMARE

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—A sleepwalker, dreaming of a fire, crashed through a window in his third-storey bedroom Wednesday night.

Abrias Vizbaras, 22, suffered multiple cuts to his hands, arms and legs, when he smashed the window. He immediately awakened and grabbed the edge of the window, saving himself from a fall to the ground 30 feet below.

200 Foot Avalanche Crashes Into Juneau

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—An avalanche apparently triggered by a violent windstorm swept down from the top of 3,500-foot Mount Juneau today and damaged 12 houses in this Alaska capital.

The 200-yard-wide slide, and the force of wind ahead of it, shoved houses from foundations, tore off roofs and snapped trees and light poles.

The only injury reported was to one housewife who suffered minor glass cuts. The slide hit at 5:30 a.m. when most residents were asleep.

The apparent cause of the giant slide was an east wind, estimated at 50 miles an hour in Juneau and at perhaps twice that velocity at the mountain top.

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

Estimates filed in the House of Assembly by Governor Douglas on behalf of the Colonial Government of Vancouver Island showed probable revenues of some $22,800, and expenditures of some $25,700, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1862.

Thomas B. Lewis of Lytton City presented a petition to the governor, from the inhabitants of Yale and Lytton, praying for the immediate construction of a wagon road from Boston Bar to the forks of Thompson River.

The seven-month-old son of Corporal Bowden, the governor's orderly, was badly burned when his clothing took fire while his mother was out of the room. Dr. Heimeken attended, but it is feared the child will die.

The U.S. revenue cutter Joe Lane was reported at Port Townsend.

OTTAWA—The Senate was told Wednesday that, for the tourist, the Mounties and the changing of the guard on Parliament Hill are wearing a bit thin. Wearing equally thin, suggested Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario) are the bathing beauties in Canadian tourist advertisements.

"It seems to me," he told the Upper House, "that in bikinis all women are beautiful."

Under discussion was the senate standing committee on tourist-traffic which will undertake a study of the tourist industry to determine ways to boost it.

LONDON—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery tickled the House of Lords in one of his rare appearances Wednesday night, describing the training of a 21-year career army man.

"He spends seven years in bed," the Second World War leader said. "He spends three years asleep, two years cleaning his boots and equipment, at least two years waiting outside the orderly room... two years cleaning the barracks... and two years on leave."

Montgomery was questioning during a debate on defence expenditures.

LONDON—Abstract artist William Morris had a novel technique for painting "action" pictures, a London court was told Wednesday.

He borrowed a sports car and drove it backwards and forwards across a large paint-covered piece of canvas spread out on a street.

But Morris did not have a driving licence.

So the court fined him 10 shillings for driving without a licence.

Morris had pleaded not guilty.

power project and plans to cut electric light bills April 1.

The receivership order takes over only property of B.C. Electric and government officials hope this will not affect spending money on the Peace.

Mr. Bennett said the power bills will proceed in the legislature, but he would not say when.

NO COMMENT

He had "no comment" on the receivership action.

It is believed he will act swiftly, probably attempting to push the bills through the House tonight.

He could then summon Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes immediately to give them royal assent.

This makes them law.

There is a question that the merger of B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission would wipe out the receivership ruling, as the new legislation specifies that a new crown agency, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, will take over all assets and property of B.C. Electric.

Mr. Bonner said that was a legal question and he did not yet know the answer.

The takeover bill would probably not wipe out the court order.

It is retroactive to last Aug. 1, but Mr. Bonner said it does not rule out any appeal through the courts that the whole legislation is unconstitutional and beyond the power of the legislature to enact.

Mr. Bonner said the new bill will put the government on firm ground as to the constitutionality of the action, ruling out any question that the government had interfered with the federal company—B.C. Power Corporation, B.C.E.'s parent company.

But a challenge on constitutionality is the only type of legal action left open to B.C. Electric shareholders once the new bill is law.

Mr. Bonner said the government believed this bill removes "any question of constitutionality."

He said he was sure there will be "a series of legal skirmishes" for a long time yet.

There is also no question that the legislature can proceed with its power bills, despite the court action.

Speaker Hugh Shantz said that rules of parliamentary procedure forbid raising motions or new debate on matters before a court, but they specifically allow bills to go through, with debate.

ENTRY ILLEGAL, LAW INVALID

Israeli Death Sentence
Appealed by Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann's lawyer appealed to the Israeli Supreme Court today to set aside the death sentence against the former Gestapo officer on the grounds that Eichmann was brought to Israel illegally and tried under an invalid law.

Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defence counsel, also asked to be allowed to introduce new evidence and to summon new witnesses, including a high official of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Servatius asked the five-judge Supreme Court to summon Dr. Hans Globke, 63, a government councillor in Hitler's interior ministry, as an expert witness on the workings of Nazi racial laws.

Eichmann, condemned to the gallows as a major figure in the Nazi slaughter of 6,000,000 European Jews, claimed during his trial he was only carrying out orders and had pointed a finger at Globke.

Eichmann charged that Globke was directly involved in working out the legal framework for deporting the Jews and confiscating their property—the job he himself was accused of carrying out as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section. He did not ask during the trial, however, for Globke to be called as a witness.

Adenauer has repeatedly defended Globke, who claimed that while serving in the Hitler regime he saved Jews' lives even at the risk of his own.

Eichmann, 56, appeared rested after his three months in solitary confinement, since the special three-judge tribunal condemned him to death last December.

The defence counsel charged that Eichmann, who was captured by secret Israeli agents in 1960 while hiding in Argentina under an assumed name, was illegally brought to Israel for trial.

"The state is the kidnapper in this case," he declared. "The appellant cannot ask for his rights before a court of the

Servatius also contended that the law under which Eichmann was tried—the Nazi and Nazi collaborators law passed by the Israeli parliament in 1950—was invalid because it was enacted after the Nazi crimes against Jews it was designed to punish.

SEEKS OTHER WITNESSES

In addition to Globke, the defence sought permission to call as witnesses two Israeli Airline officials who allegedly took part in bringing Eichmann from Argentina. The trial court had rejected a defence request to summon them.

The hearing of the appeal is expected to take a week. The high court then will retire, probably for a month, to consider its ruling.

4½ Mill Rate on Power to U.S. Can Finance Dams—Williston

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The legislature stumbled through 11 hours of power debate Wednesday with Opposition and government finally coming to the conclusion that never the twain shall meet.

Altogether over two days the Opposition kept Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston 14 hours before approving his departmental estimates of spending.

The power debate was inconclusive, with neither side giving an inch.

But these main points emerged when the House adjourned at 1:05 a.m. today.

B.C. can finance three dams on the Columbia River by selling downstream benefits to the U.S. for 4½ mills instead of the 5 mills which Premier Bennett insists he can get.

The federal government gave verbal assurance to B.C. before the Columbia treaty was signed that a deal on these benefits must be worked out before it was ratified.

There still have been no offers from Ottawa of out-right grants to pay for the Columbia.

The U.S. is afraid not that B.C. will ask too high a price for the benefits, but that it will dump them at an extremely cheap price on the Northwest market.

Mr. Williston delivered "10 commandments" to back up the government's two-river policy, and followed them with an explanation of how it will work.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said this policy is a gamble the taxpayers can't afford and said he was sure he would win the election Premier Bennett is threatening.

'Can't Afford'

Basic difference through the whole debate was the Opposition's contention that B.C. does not need to develop the Peace and Columbia rivers simultaneously and cannot afford to do so, and the government's contention that power from both rivers is needed to meet requirements of the future two decades.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan summed up the whole debate when he said: "I suggest the difference will still be here 10 years from now."

He said of the Opposition: "Is it that they do not wish to understand because it does not suit their political purposes?"

Certainly the Opposition wasn't prepared to accept. They kept plugging away hour after hour with question after question.

Mr. Williston went over the government policy time and again.

Finally Mrs. Camille Mather complained: "This has been the most fantastic compounding of confusion."

Questions, Answers

She said the Opposition wasn't getting answers to questions it asked, it was getting answers to questions it didn't ask. And they were so technical "only an engineer could understand."

Mr. Williston tried to oblige with a clear-cut policy.

First, he issued the 10 commandments behind it:

1. Maximum benefits for B.C. with a proper balance between exploitation and conservation;

2. Resources should be developed to bring the benefits of economic prosperity to as wide an area as possible;

3. Abundant supply of cheap power is one of the most important requirements in a competing industrial economy;

4. To get the best results the resources should be developed as soon as practical;

20 Years Ahead

5. Planning should be at least 20 years ahead of time and it should be recognized that estimates of growth in the economy are "conservative";

6. Cost of the development should bring as little disruption to the economy;

7. Development should be in such a way as to provide additional energy supplies as quickly as possible;

8. B.C.'s requirements must be met by priority, followed by sale to the rest of Canada, then sale to the U.S.;

9. Multi-use of land and water involved must be emphasized;

10. B.C. power development must be tied to a provincial grid as soon as possible.

Mr. Williston followed this up with an explanation of how the Peace and Columbia will be integrated to fit the commandments, and why both must be started now.

A conservative estimate puts

B.C. power requirements at 8,000,000 kilowatts in 20 years.

Thermal Plants

Present resources produce 2,300,000 kilowatts. Thermal plants can bring in an extra 600,000 kilowatts.

But by 1967, there will be a danger of power shortage.

So the Peace River was being brought in.

Its first stage will provide 550,000 kilowatts. Thermal power will help fill the gap until the hydro power is ready.

If necessary B.C. can buy "dump power" from the U.S. for 2 mills per kilowatt hour; this is not firm power, but would firm up other B.C. resources.

By 1973 power would be available from Mica Creek on the Columbia. This would provide 1,700,000 kilowatts.

Then would come the second stage of the Peace—another 2,500,000 kilowatts. Some of this could be exported if surplus.

Finally other Columbia projects such as dams at Downie Creek and Revelstoke would be developed—by about 1982.

Best Advantage

The downstream benefits would be sold to the U.S. to get the maximum advantage from them.

Bringing them to B.C. would not be the maximum advantage because they were declining in value, they wouldn't fit into a B.C. grid and couldn't be used immediately.

It was absolutely false to maintain that the benefits were "free" because B.C. would have to charge the cost of the three treaty dams.

Heart Wrenching Decision

BEEFORD VILLAGE, N.Y. (AP)—If you had been Mrs. June Swenson, what would you have done?

One daughter was lost beneath the waters of a pond. Another had just been pulled from the pond and was lying motionless on the ground.

Would you search for the child who was lost? Or would you attempt artificial respiration on the child beside you?

Mrs. Swenson had this nightmarish decision to make Wednesday.

She decided to choose what she could see. She gave artificial respiration to daughter Jean, 3. Soon the little girl began to respond with gasping breaths.

Mrs. Swenson carried Jean to her home, about 30 yards from the pond, and telephone for help.

A police rescue squad arrived and recovered the body of daughter Susan, 5.

TO FILL SEVEN-YEAR VACUUM

Authority 'Creates' Power

Creation of B.C. Hydro Authority will suddenly provide for between 100,000 and 200,000 kilowatts of electrical energy for industrial use in the seven-year "vacuum" until Peace and Columbia power is produced, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston was replying to an Opposition question by Gordon Dowding (NDP-CCF—Burnaby) during debate on the minister's salary vote.

He asked what proposals the government has to supply electrical energy until there is actual load on line from either the Peace River or Columbia River hydro development projects.

Mr. Dowding pointed out that although there is a slight power surplus now, from 1964 to 1970 it may be difficult to provide power for the type of industrial development anticipated in B.C.

Mr. Williston, whose department is responsible for power, said the B.C. Hydro bill introduced at this session of the legislature will provide the answer.

The bill is designed to merge the B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission into one overall hydro authority.

Both systems have power reserves and standby sources. "By utilizing both as an integrated system," the minister said, "there will be between 100,000 and 200,000 kilowatts without doing anything."

Offered: A Partnership

ONE OF THE MOST UNSAVORY aspects of the provincial government's latest move to deny the B.C. Power Corporation an appeal to the courts is Attorney-General Bonner's attempt to include the public as a partner in the act.

If this denial of appeal is not enforced, says Mr. Bonner, the Corporation might successfully claim in court more for the B.C. Electric share—which the government has expropriated. And this, he says, might result in higher electricity rates.

The implication is clear: Disregard the dubious ethics of what we are doing and you won't have to pay more for your electricity.

The government is attempting to buy the silence of the public while it is enforcing the silence of the Corporation.

It is a part of the spiritual weakness of the present British Columbia administration that it clings to the power to forbid civil suits against it. The federal government and most other provinces have given up the right to require citizens to obtain governmental permission to sue the Crown.

But Mr. Bennett is not only retaining the power, he has expanded the principle of governmental infallibility by specifying in his new legislation that no court action may be taken in regard to the case, now or in the future. The sum now offered as compensation "is final and conclusive and shall not be open to question in any court."

This is authoritarianism in the grand manner. The democratic form of government under which we live is based on the free rights of individuals, whether persons or corporations. One of these rights is the right to resort to the courts to appeal a decision of a lower court. Another is the recognized right of appeal against the act of a government in such matters as compensation for expropriation.

It may be true that in its sovereignty the provincial government has the constitutional power to prevent such an appeal. But it has no such power in the light of modern democracy or the accepted ethics of government today.

Hitler, Mussolini, Franco used such tactics to stifle opposition to the actions of their regimes. But this dictatorial sort of thing does not go down well in Canada.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bonner must be hard-shelled indeed not to feel the weight of criticism which is now being expressed from one end of Canada to the other. And this latest crunch of the mailed fist comes as one more in a series of very questionable deeds by this government.

Mr. Bonner, sworn to uphold the administration of justice in the province, already has behind him a trail of sorry episodes. There was the two-year cover-up of the Somers case, the courts' rejection of his government's mining legislation, the shared embarrassment of Mr. Gagliardi's conviction for contempt of court, the numerous small incidents in which the government's voting power has been the main criterion rather than common rights.

And now the basic principle of the functions of government and courts is being infringed. The dual safeguard of democracy—the legislature making laws and the courts interpreting them—has been broken by the government's denial of the right to go to court for a hearing.

Is the public expected to condone this, in the belief that it will avoid a supposed increase in electricity rates? That seems to be what Mr. Bonner proposes. If we accept this we won't deserve any better ethical leadership than we are getting.

Calculated Terror

THE SECRET ARMY ORGANIZATION in Algeria is emerging now, not as a band of patriots determined to preserve the rights of the European minority in a predominantly Moslem state, but as murderous bandits who will stop at nothing in their efforts to seize power from the confusion of the change-over to independence.

The OAS tactics are tactics of terrorism. They slaughter Moslems and Europeans alike in their effort to deter anyone from supporting the new form of government. General de Gaulle's only hope of seeing his plan established—apparently the only type of plan with any likelihood of success—appears to be to fight a full-scale war with his French army against the OAS.

The Moslems, with independence now within their grasp, are preserving in general a commendable restraint in the face of severe provocation. They are not lily-white by any means. The past has many examples of atrocities by Moslems as well as the OAS. But their struggle against France is won now, with General de Gaulle's full support. Now they must survive against the mad-dog tactics of the Secret Army Organization—and they will still need General de Gaulle's help.

Savagery is a dangerous weapon. It can destroy its user as well as its target. The OAS are fighting not only Moslems, they are fighting the trend of history and will go down. It remains to be seen how many lives must pay the cost of proving it to them.

Legal Problem for Airports

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE United States has recently delivered a judgment which could be of high importance to every major airport in the world.

The court, which has authority, of course, only in the United States, has held an airport liable for damages if the noise of arriving and departing aircraft forces a person to sell his home.

The importance of the decision delivered by a court split seven to two lies in fixing the responsibility on the airport, not, as the defence sought to establish, on those who fly the aircraft which make the noise.

The jet age has heightened the problem of excessive noise in areas close to major air terminals—a fact of which Canadian airports are only too conscious. How property owners adjacent to them may be affected by the American precedent—if at all—remains for tests in Canadian courts.

At all events, trouble looms close to home. The Port of Seattle, responsible for the Seattle-Tacoma airport, has filed with the Supreme Court a brief stating that 250 property owners, with claims running into the millions, seek damages from the Port of Seattle for a "taking" of airspace by aircraft flying at low altitude.

Getting Crowded Out?

THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE studying access to wild lands has heard a complaint that purchase of thousands of acres on Vancouver Island and islands in the Gulf by absentee landlords is depriving Canadian citizens of the right to visit sport, scenic or other points of interest in these areas.

The complaint deals in particular with the large tracts bought up by a wealthy resident of Wurtemberg, Germany, which have now been denied to visitors by orders "no lots for sale, no access, keep off."

It cannot be denied that legal purchase confers on an owner the right to bar visitors. The absentee landlord in question—and there are others—would probably be on sound ground in court. But he would be making a serious error in public relations if he acted in too baronial a manner. An area of thousands of acres in this country cannot be held inviolate like some private shooting preserve without arousing public resentment.

Failing reasonable behavior on the part of large purchasers of land, the Canadian public should receive some measure of protection through governmental action. Are we going to end up confined to the main highways?

Cordiality Tinged With Polite Scepticism

By MAURICE WESTERN

THE federal-provincial conference on long-distance, high-voltage transmission systems convened on Monday in an atmosphere of cordiality tinged with polite scepticism.

Two of the premiers, Mr. Bennett of British Columbia and Mr. Roblin of Manitoba, were in attendance. Mr. Bennett, radiating enthusiasm, assured reporters that the conference was an admirable idea; that the Peace River was on the right side of the mountains; that power for a national grid should have priority over power for exports; and that both the Peace and Columbia projects would be started this year.

Eight of the premiers were absent and Quebec was not represented at all. The Quebec view is that the federal government ought not to concern itself with inter-provincial power exchanges and that, in any event, the meeting is simply high voltage, pre-election politics.

Mr. Diefenbaker opened the conference with a glowing speech in which he said that a national grid would be "the counterpart" in the field of electrical energy, of the two transcontinental railways, the Trans-Canada highway, the nation-wide civil aviation system and the cross-Canada radio and television chains.

Federal Control

As the railways, civil aviation, radio and television are under federal control, the argument did not appear to be one at all likely to conciliate Quebec.

The prime minister spoke, perhaps with some nostalgia, of the old assumption that industries would move northward to power sources. This assumption, he noted sadly, may no longer be warranted.

"Economists are now generally agreed that the locations of most industries are determined, not by the specific location of the undeveloped power but principally by the location of markets, supplies of materials and labor and communications."

This thought, while probably sound, conflicts with the ambitions of Mr. Bennett who has talked in grandiose terms of an industrial empire on the Peace.

Western

In any event, it led Mr. Diefenbaker to the firm assurance that "the question of long-distance power transmission forms an inherent part of the federal government's national development policy." How a question could be part of a policy he did not explain.

But he did assure the ministers and experts that the time was opportune for the convening of a meeting of this kind. He also said, no doubt for Mr. Bennett's benefit, that the government would "welcome an expression of the views of the provinces on the export of power."

Some Spirit

Mr. Dinsdale, minister of northern affairs and natural resources, opened in the same buoyant spirit. He said, speaking of the north, that "the recent upsurge in the development in this resource-rich part of Canada has been one of the important factors giving rise to the urgent need for a conference of this kind." Mr. Dinsdale's text suggests, however, that he was assailed by doubts as he moved along.

The latter part of his remarks consisted mainly of "questions which need to be answered" and a list of problems which have yet to be overcome. At the end he intimated that the conference would be able to look only "in general terms" at these problems and that "this is as far as ministers will be able to go at this stage."

What Mr. Dinsdale may have had in mind were certain findings of Mr. H. Lee Briggs, a nationally-known power engineer—formerly of Victoria—made public in a recent address to the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Mr. Briggs' speech was very long and highly technical. The points which drew public attention and inspired questions in the House were the following: "However, the cost of extra terminal conversion equipment and the high cost of making DC-AC tapoff connections to each province nullify the dollar gain in the examples."

"The conclusion is that no advantage is clearly apparent to justify the construction of a trans-Canada grid system."

"A transmission grid system interconnecting major power resources across northern Canada, built with tapoff connections taken southward at intervals for the purpose of supplying large power consuming areas, is for economic reasons of no interest."

"The major objection to a national grid is that it would necessitate interruption of transmission, taking power out here and putting it in there. The only economical way to transmit power over long distances—500 miles and more—is by direct current transmission. The conversion for alternating current to direct current and back again, which would be a necessary element in a national grid, is a very expensive operation. Over long distances only continuous high value—firm power—loads are able to make a line pay off."

"So that instead of a national grid we should be directing all our efforts, especially research, towards the tapping of isolated large potential sources of hydro power in Canada."

When the prime minister was asked about these interesting passages, he replied vaguely that "there are various opinions." There are, indeed. But the curious fact is that Mr. Briggs was one of the officials on the federal side at Monday's conference.

Research Needed

"I understand," said Mr. Diefenbaker in his opening address, "that research is urgently needed to make the transmission of large quantities of power over long distances an economic proposition."

This makes the present procedure somewhat bewildering. One would suppose that the logical course would be to begin with a conference of technicians to consider the practical problems mentioned by Mr. Dinsdale and perhaps to launch studies into the feasibility of a national grid.

Such an approach might possibly have been more acceptable to Quebec. Instead, the approach has been political. Mr. Diefenbaker has called ministers together and, in spite of the doubts of the government's own advisers, has urged them to look upon a national grid as a counterpart of the transcontinental railways or the (highly subsidized) CBC.

Mr. Russ Brown of Saskatchewan assured the meeting that "this is the kind of economic and resource planning conference" his government has long advocated. But Mr. Brown speaks for a CCF government. Another view heard as the ministers assembled was that Mr. Diefenbaker had got his political cart well ahead of the technological horse.

Algerian Peace: An End or a Beginning?

THE agreement reached at Evian, which was announced on Sunday, amounts to a treaty between the government of France and the National Liberation Front, the FLN, which has conducted the Algerian war.

This treaty has all the marks of a far-sighted and magnanimous recognition of what are the common interests of France and Algeria. The authors of this treaty have worked from two fundamental truths. The one is that the Algerians must become an independent nation, the other is that France and Algeria are profoundly interdependent.

Yet as everyone knows there is as yet no certainty that this admirable settlement will be made to work. It is a treaty between two governments which protects the vital interests of both. But what remains in doubt is whether Gen. de Gaulle or the FLN is in fact governing Algeria—whether Gen. de Gaulle has the power to grant or the FLN the power to accept the settlement made at Evian.

There will be no peace until this doubt is removed. Whether this will be done, whether and how it can be done, turns on whether Gen. de Gaulle can subdue the rebellion of the secret army which is conducting a reign of terror in Algeria.

It is hard to measure the power of this rebellion. For it employs terrorists who will stop at no crime, and such bands of terrorists can often exercise power far beyond their numbers.

In recent months they have been able to intimidate and blackmail the civilians in the Algerian cities and to work their will against the French army in Algeria, the police, and all the other agencies of law and order.

There are some indications, in fact, that the secret army, the OAS, is the strongest power in most of Algeria. If that is so, it can be subdued only if Gen. de Gaulle convinces the mass of the European settlers that the Evian agreement is their best hope for the future, and if he convinces the more responsible members of the OAS that the whole military might of France is arrayed against them.

The moment has therefore arrived when absolute firmness in support of the Evian agreement is indispensable. France is now embarked on an experiment of worldwide significance and interest. The experiment will test whether in the old colonial lands it is possible to create a viable state out of two or more racial, religious, and linguistic communities. As yet nobody has succeeded in doing this.

In many parts of Asia and Africa peace depends upon the creation of diverse federations or confederations of which Switzerland is the shining example to the world. But that was impossible in Palestine. It was in fact impossible in what was British India. The Evian settlement is an awe-inspiring wager that it can be done in Algeria.

Perhaps the best reason for daring to think that it will be done in Algeria is that there is no tolerable alternative. The old order cannot be restored no matter what atrocities the OAS commits. With a population of nine million Moslems and one million Christians and Jews, the minority is too important, it is too necessary to the life of Algeria, and it is too strong, to be oppressed and liquidated.

Some years ago it may conceivably have been possible to partition Algeria as Palestine was partitioned. But if it was possible then, it is not possible now; when partition would precipitate an endless war.

For ourselves, we have the strongest reasons for supporting the Evian settlement. It is not only that the settlement can bring peace and an end to the long agony. It is also that if Algeria can become a successful multi-racial community, then there is hope elsewhere, especially in the critical parts of the African continent.

Because there is as yet no good prospect of creating successful multi-racial states in the Rhodesias, Kenya, Angola, and South Africa, the United States finds itself whipsawed between its old allies in Europe and the new nations, which it needs to befriend, in Africa.

An Algerian settlement which worked would open up light at the end of what is now a very long and dark tunnel. (c) 1962 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

As Our Readers See It

Let's Have Rate-Cut Data

The other day we received our electric light bill "stuffed" with a pamphlet entitled "Progress Report on the Peace," a little gift from Mr. Bennett, no doubt. As a householder and taxpayer I would have been far more interested and impressed if we had received a notice of Mr. Bennett's "substantial" rate of reduction in our light bill, and the effective date.

F. WARD.

Glen Avenue.

Any Further Bids?

Three hundred and fifty dollars? In all probability our civic officials will still be serving in the same capacity when three hundred and fifty thousand will be insufficient to buy Herbert Siebner's superb painting.

His inscription will surely go down in history. I wish that such as I could offer him a gift of genuine substance in appreciation of his honoring us by becoming a Canadian citizen. Something bearing a similar inscription: "With love and thanks to Herbert for showing us a reason for living."

To have spent most of our lives in desolation painting "pretty" pictures to please an equally uninformed public, then having a door opened onto beauty and truth at last is something I have not the eloquence to express. Such petty insults inspired by ignorance cannot harm his genius. His gracious and lovely wife is also above them. But to those of us who feel so privileged in having him here in the West it is unspeakably shameful.

PHYLLIS LAURITSEN.

Kalasin Road.

'Churlish'

Industrial progress depends more than on any other factor, upon a good supply of energy. Water power, horse power, wind power have been widely employed in past ages, but the full industrial potential only came with steam power, and then electric and oil power. Tomorrow it may be nuclear power. But without power there can be no industrialization.

Of these forms of power, electricity is the most sought after. It is silent and goes easily into every home. It creates no dust or smell. When derived from water power it is self-renewing and will be there as long as the rivers run to the sea.

Of all the Canadian provinces B.C. is blessed with more abundant sources of power. It can and will supply in time other provinces from this rich store, and in the meantime would we be so churlish, so hateful, so unneighborly as to refuse to sell it to our neighbors to the south? Yes, it seems, we are going to be so small and mean as to refuse to share this natural blessing.

What will future generations think of us?

ACCOUNTANT.

Monstrosity Vogue

While looking at the reproduction of Herbert Siebner's painting entitled "Inner Harbor" in the Victoria Daily Times, inevitably there came to mind the story of the person who, on being shown by an artist friend his latest painting, remarked, "What rhythm! What color! What is it?" And it was reassuring to read of the reaction of various people to Mr. Siebner's painting in that it showed there are still those who refuse to accept as art the monstrosities which seem to be the vogue today.

The question may be asked, "Just what constitutes art in a painting?" I suggest that if the work of such artists as Turner and Constable, for instance, be art then we must find another name for the work of the abstractionists, et al. My own opinion may not count for much, but I asked a well-known professional for an opinion on abstract art. The answer came without qualification, "It is tripe!"

That echoed the opinion of others who, I feel, are well qualified to judge; and it seems to me that the Canada Council, when making awards, might well demand that a prospective recipient should first display a modicum of skill along traditional lines. How, otherwise, will the genuine artist, who is searching for new forms of expression be distinguished from the charlatan who, with little drawing skill and even less knowledge of chiaroscuro, perspective and color brings the art of painting into disfavor and fills our art galleries with incredible messes of discordant color and unintelligible form!

Keep It a Park

I wish to support Alderman Edgewood in his resistance to granting a 20-year renewable lease on city-owned parkland (adjacent to the Gorge) to the Sherwood Forest Company. A dozen individuals with whom I have spoken oppose the lease, on a variety of grounds.

Surely a majority of the citizens are not blind to the unique character and extreme value of the Gorge waterway. Though most of the shoreline has been given over to private homesites, a few choice portions remain which should be preserved as parks, for access and use by the public. The site in question, of pleasantly rolling land with fir and arbutus, is adjacent to the scenic falls with a beach front. It should not be alienated from public use.

Victoria will continue to enjoy, let us hope, a social climate quite different to that of Los Angeles, a city of make-believe in which a Disneyland is acceptable. The solid worth of a parkland area dedicated to the mental and physical relaxation of the people should not be exchanged for a cheap enterprise of sham for private profit. In particular, we can do without "a realistic dungeon" and "instruments of torture." Thinking people deplore the consequences of a continuing and increasing exploitation of themes of violence, for commercial gain.

One recalls similar hasty developments in other towns and cities that were rushed up to capitalize on a major tourist influx, and in a few years regretted—because almost without exception they were soon abandoned by their particular clientele. Do we remember the miniature golf courses in Victoria?

REPORTING

OTTAWA — Treasury Board, the cabinet committee that watchdogs government spending, is expected to approve a purchase order soon for 190 CL-41 airplanes at a cost of about $90 millions.

The CL-41 is a subsonic jet aircraft developed by Canadair Ltd. of Montreal. It is intended to replace the piston-engined Harvard as the RCAF's primary trainer, the first plane the type airman flies.

Importantly involved in this transaction are the future of Canadair and the jobs of more than 9,000 workers. While Canadair would appear to be in a favorable position with a contract for 200 F-104 Starfighters for the RCAF, plus a much smaller contract for Starfighter airframes and parts for Lockheed Aircraft Corp., plus a $200 million contract for Starfighters and spare parts for NATO, it needs another product to make better use of its production capacity.

It had such a product in the CL-44, a swing-tail turbo prop transport, but thanks to ruinous indecision and delay in the Canadian cabinet this airplane now seems to be a dead duck. Nobody is buying it, and Canadair has gone out of production. The CL-41 jet trainer will take up this slack.

When the story of this government and the Canadian aircraft industry is finally written, the CL-44 will rank close to Avro's CF-101 Arrow as an example of monumental mismanagement by Ottawa.

Two years ago the U.S. was ready to take a straight swap for 66 North American F-101 Voodoo interceptors. This was embarrassing to Diefenbaker, for in washing out the Arrow he had forecast that by mid-1962 the main threat would be missiles, and the RCAF would not have any great need for interceptors.

Production Minister O'Hurley was eager to make the swap, but he was stayed by Diefenbaker's reluctance to approve it. The PM had said the RCAF didn't need such planes. The Americans were frustrated by Ottawa's procrastination. It was nearly a year before the cabinet was ready to proceed with the swap, but by then it was too late. The USAF, under political pressure from the Congress to "buy American," got the transport planes it needed in the U.S.

What was lost was much more than the sale of 35 airplanes. Had the U.S. taken the CL-44, it would have given this airplane worldwide standing. Pan-American was interested, for one. But when the deal collapsed, the big commercial carriers lost interest. Canadair peddled the 44 energetically, but it only managed to sell a few to second-rate airlines. In addition, the RCAF bought 10 of the non-swing version, called the Yukon, and the government financed the construction of five 44s that are sitting at Montreal, unsold.

Despite the fiasco, the RCAF is getting its Voodoos. A new swap was arranged: Canada would take over 16 U.S. Pinetree radar stations in Canada, and go in on a 25-75 split with the U.S. on a $200 millions order of 104s to be built by Canadair for poorer NATO countries, and the U.S. would supply the 66 Voodoos for RCAF home defence squadrons.

When you consider that it costs about $26 millions a year to run these 16 radar stations, and that in 10 years this cost will be $260 millions, it seems that Canada is getting no bargain on these 66 obsolescent Voodoos.

Why Not a Celestial Sphere?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the good folks in Lt. Col. John Glenn's old home town have started a campaign to build a monument to commemorate his space flight.

Pursuant to this cause, Rep. Tom V. Moorehead, who counts the townsmen among his constituents, held a news conference to announce plans for the project.

I stopped by Moorehead's office to attend the briefing because I am heartily in favor of any monument that isn't located in the national capital.

Monument building in Washington has about reached the saturation point, so that any one, regardless of how worthy, creates space problems of the non-astronautical type.

Eventually, I suppose, we will be able to hitch monuments to rockets and boost them into orbit. But that is a long-range solution. Fortunately, there is still plenty of room for memorials in New Concord, Ohio, where the proposed Glenn monument would be located. Therefore, I would like to do my bit to help the project along.

The New Concordans hope to finance the memorial through public contributions, and I'm afraid I can't be of much assistance in that field.

I do, however, have a suggestion to offer which could cut the cost of the monument insofar as the expense of designing it is concerned.

My economizing idea stems from a controversy that arose here some time ago over the design submitted for a proposed memorial to President Theodore Roosevelt.

As originally conceived, the centre piece of the TR monument would have been an oval-shaped work of abstract sculpture from the far-out school of art. However, its ultra-modern lines offended many congressmen and kinsmen of the late president. They protested that the monument would resemble a "celestial sphere" or a "globular jungle gym."

So great was the outcry, the memorial commission finally abandoned the design and replaced it with a more conventional plan featuring a statue of Roosevelt on the verge of shouting "Bully!"

It seems to me that this turn of events presents a splendid opportunity to the villagers in New Concord. What they should do is latch on to the discarded Roosevelt design and use it for the memorial.

A "globular jungle gym" might not be very symbolic of Roosevelt's charge up San Juan Hill, but I can't think of anything more appropriate for commemorating the conquest of space.

Considering the circumstances, I imagine the celestial sphere blueprints could be obtained for a song, say a couple of choruses of "I Don't Know What It Is, but I like it."

FLUSH DAYS CONTRAST WITH AUSTERITY

Peron Broke Argentina, But Workers Flourished

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—When Juan Domingo Peron was president, the Argentine working man flourished. After a day's work, he came home to a full dinner table and wine cask. On weekends, he had the workers' clubs with winning pools and golf courses.

All this is nostalgically recalled in these days of austerity, high prices and crises.

"We were better off with Peron," many Argentines say. But in the course of making things better for the working man, Juan Peron became a brutal dictator—Argentina's first in 100 years—and spent South America's richest country broke.

An election sweep by Peron followers last Sunday indicates that millions of Argentines still don't blame Peron for their troubles today. They want him back from exile in Spain.

CHAMPIONED WORKER

Peron was elected president of Argentina in 1946 in the most honest and democratic election the nation had ever had. Championing the worker with a "social justice" program and building his strength in labor unions, Peron soon made it so only he could be elected president in the next election.

He removed the constitutional prohibition on a president succeeding himself. He imposed restrictions on opposing political parties so that the only thing they could campaign for was Peronism. He closed newspapers. He silenced with prison terms those who spoke out. And all the while he poured out Argentina's wealth to keep the masses happy.

By one account, he doled out $3,000,000,000 in favors and gifts for political friends by the time he was ousted in September, 1955.

The money he spent was earned by neutralist Argentina during the Second World War from exports, especially of beef. When Peron took office, Argentina's peso was one of the soundest currencies in the world.

But Juan Peron always had a great feeling for the lavish. At 66, Peron is still burly and healthy-looking. His weight runs around 200 pounds. In his days as president he slept no more than six hours a

Factory for Cuba

BELGRADE (AP)—A Yugoslav factory plans to supply equipment for a projected oil factory in Cuba able to process 200 tons of cotton seed daily. Experts of the Jeleinstvo factory in Zagreb plan also to train Cubans to run the plant, the Yugoslav official news agency Tanjug said.

Anti-Everything Attitude Decried by Liberal MLA

Gordon Gibson is fed up with the Sacred crackdown on sin; he feels they're just trying to take all the fun out of life.

First it was smoking; then it was drinking; Wednesday it was horse racing.

"They don't want us to drink; they don't want us to smoke; they don't want us to watch horseracing," he complained to the legislature.

What aroused his ire was a speech by Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) against gambling.

The House was considering a private bill incorporating the Delta Trotting and Racing Association Ltd. and allowing it to hold an extra 14 days of harness racing.

Mr. Price said there was too much racing and gambling. He said that betting takes $100,000 a day of potential business for stores.

Earlier this session Cyril Shelford (SC-Omineca) had delivered a lecture against smoking; Highways Minister P. Gagliardi and Premier Bennett had attacked drinking. "I've had enough from that side of the House," thundered Mr. Gibson.

Invaders' Trial

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prisoners taken in last April's unsuccessful Cuban invasion will go on trial March 29, Havana radio has reported.

Rating was only "a minor sin"; it should be allowed all year if that's what people wanted.

Texada Ore Contract $45 Million

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Believed to be the largest single iron ore contract signed in B.C. to date, Texada Mines Ltd. has entered into an agreement to supply 45 million tons of concentrate to a number of leading Japanese steel mills over a 10-year period.

The new contract goes into effect in September next year when the present three-year contract runs out, according to Bruce L. Alexander, general manager of the private B.C. company.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Hit, Losers Dominate

Losses continued to overshadow gains in a day of moderate stock market trading.

Industrials were the hardest hit in Canada, while on the New York exchange stocks closed slightly on the upside.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices declined in late morning trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Feed grains were steady prompted by heavier feeding requirements on the prairies with the return of cold weather. Domestic shippers absorbed most of the light offerings.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Molybdenum was up 1/16, but other Canadian issues showed losses or were unchanged. Shawinigan was off 1/8 and Jupiter Corp. 1/4. Other losses were in smaller fractions.

AT MONTREAL Abitibi fell a point to 45 among papers. MacMillan eased 1/4 to 197 1/2. Shawinigan fell 1/4 to 23 1/2. Dominion Tar dropped 1/4 to 20 1/2, and Seagraves at 48 1/2 and Pacific Pete at 14 1/2 each lost 1/4.

Bornite Copper gained three cents to 26 cents among mines. Carbec fell two cents to 23 cents and Glen Lake Silver lost seven cents to $1.35.

AT LONDON further reduction in the British bank rate from 5 1/2 per cent to 5 per cent imparted a stronger tendency to most domestic securities of the London Stock Exchange today. The further reduction had been anticipated and there was no great excitement, but market sentiment was helped.

In the mining section, South African gold shares were somewhat quieter. Many leading issues went ahead at the opening but initial gains were later reduced by profit taking and some continental selling.

AT VANCOUVER trading was fairly quiet with prices lower during the morning. B.C. Power shares were active. Pesa went up at $1.16. Bethlehem Copper was down at $2.26. Cowichan Copper was lower at 76. General Resources went at 38. Kamloops Copper moved at 24 1/2. Mt. Washington Copper was at $1.50, and Torwest at 50. Western Mines traded up to $2. B.C. Power was at $1.17.

production to well over the $12 million mark.

Canadian Oil Companies Ltd., which in 1961 set new records for earnings, sales, production and refinery runs, has figured that its profit worked out to barely one cent per gallon of sales, just under 5 1/2 cents on each sales dollar and about 5 per cent on capital employed.

Net profit was up 36 per cent to $5,016,429 or $1.76 a share. Lowering of product costs, distributing and operating expenses, along with substantially higher chemical sales, were major factors in the improvement.

Bondholders of Caribou Brewing Co. Ltd. will receive between 15 and 22 cents on the dollar, according to the liquidator.

Exact amount will depend on litigation now before the courts but, in any event, initial distribution of 13 cents on the dollar is to be made by the end of June.

Bralorne Pioneer Mines Ltd. will start soon on an underground development at its optional Ace property.

Drifting and raising will explore the Congress hanging wall vein which was drilled last fall, and a short raise is also planned on the Howard vein.

A major development program has been started on the Conwest Exploration Co. Ltd. silver-lead-zinc property near the headwaters of the Liard River in the Yukon Territory.

The property is owned by Tintina Silver Mines Ltd., 80 per cent controlled by Conwest, and eight veins to date have given an assay average

BROWN 'MARG' MOOTED

TORONTO (CP)—A powerful farm group indicated Wednesday it is prepared to drop its opposition to colored margarine in Ontario provided some other color than yellow is used.

Spokesmen for the Ontario Farmers Union suggested to the legislature's standing committee on agriculture that a color similar to peanut butter would be all right with them. The brief said that, simply because margarine is a butter substitute, there is no need for it to be colored like butter. The sale of margarine is allowed in Ontario, but it cannot be colored before sale. Manufacturers usually supply color separately now.

British Bank Rate Cut to 5 Per Cent

LONDON (Reuters)—The British bank rate was cut by ½ per cent to five per cent today.

The bank rate—equivalent of the federal discount rate—had been 5½ per cent since March 8.

A Bank of England spokesman said: "This further move is a reflection of the continued strength of sterling."

The bank rate, a pointer to the state of the country's economy and finances and a key to all interest charges, two weeks ago was lowered to 5½ from six per cent.

Today's cut was the fourth since the rate was hoisted to a crisis level of seven per cent in the government's austerity "little budget" of last July.

The London foreign exchange market reacted to the bank rate by marking down sterling against the United States dollar.

The pound dropped to between $2.8150 and $2.8155 immediately after the announcement from $2.8163-$2.8165 earlier but later came back slightly to $2.8153-$2.8157.

Negro Girl Elected

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Paulette Bacon, a Negro student at predominantly white Dwight Morrow High School, served as honorary mayor of Englewood Tuesday. Paulette successfully campaigned for the post in an election that was part of the school's honorary municipal government program. Englewood recently was the scene of a furor over charges of school segregation.

POPE HONORS CARDINALS

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Silver trumpets struck up the papal march and the Sistine choir sang the hymn Thou Art Peter today as Pope John was carried on his portable throne into St. Peter's Basilica to confer the red hat on eight new cardinals.

Twenty-nine other Cardinals attended the consistory, including James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto.

JACQUES FLYNN
Long-term Help

New Coal Aid Policy Promised by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Flynn held out hope Wednesday that the federal government in the not too distant future will announce long-term aid to Canada's ailing coal industry.

"The government is considering the whole problem and it hopes to be able to make an announcement about general policy as soon as possible," he said in the Commons.

Mr. Flynn spoke during debate on a $4,800,000 supplementary spending item required in connection with the movement of coal by the Dominion Coal Board under federal subventions. The item was approved.

ONLY TEMPORARY

Mr. Robichaud said the federal treasury is paying large amounts in the form of subsidies to keep the coal industry operating. But this was only temporary measure which would not enable the coal industry to become established on a permanent basis.

Mr. Winch said the present coal policy involving payment of subventions "is positively stupid."

'Untold Wealth Still to Be Found' Canadian Prospectors' Meet Told

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—Prospectors have been urged to get out and explore and people with money urged to back their explorations with risk capital.

Mrs. Viola MacMillan, president of the Prospectors and Developers Association, told the association's annual convention last week large areas have never even been mapped and even old areas are yielding unexpected riches.

A one-time prospector, a dynamic mine developer, and president of the association for 18 years, she declared: "We have the certain assurance that untold wealth is still to be found."

W. P. Hammond, manager of exploration and development, Conwest Exploration Co. Ltd., described the prospector as a man who by years of study, observation and experience may recognize a situation obscure to others.

CENTURY 21 'ILLUSION' TITILLATING

SEATTLE (AP)—A "sometimes naughty" show street program, including a number called "Peep, Backstage U.S.A.," was announced Wednesday for the World's Fair.

Show Street is in what fair officials call the "adult entertainment district."

"... A real cross-cut of American midway entertainment," said George Whitney, director of concessions and amusements.

The lineup includes Grace Hansen's Paradise International Theatre with a $500,000 Las Vegas type revue displaying 29 showgirls.

The "Peep, Backstage" number will feature 35 showgirls. Spectators will walk through and have the illusion of viewing showgirls' dressing rooms.

However, fewer men are entering prospecting and he urged companies to absorb those developing into seasoned prospectors into their year-round exploration programs.

Christopher Riley, Vancouver consulting geologist, commented that the recently-established Craigmont copper-iron mine near Merritt, B.C., had been discovered by a magnetometer but later work indicated that it could have been found by surface prospecting.

Mr. Riley predicted that this year will set a record in British Columbia exploration. Most large Canadian and many large foreign companies had exploration offices in B.C. and "money markets have been favorably disposed of late to provide a good deal or risk capital so that company promotions have been numerous."

There is good reason, he continued, to believe that more ore deposits await discovery than have been found to date. He described exploration for oil and gas in the northeastern corner of B.C. as "fantastically successful."

Canada, Australia 'Infants' in Trade

ADELAIDE (AP)—Canada and Australia, operating together in a trading bloc, would be a couple of infants compared with the European Common Market and the United States, James Stewart, leader of a Canadian trade mission said today.

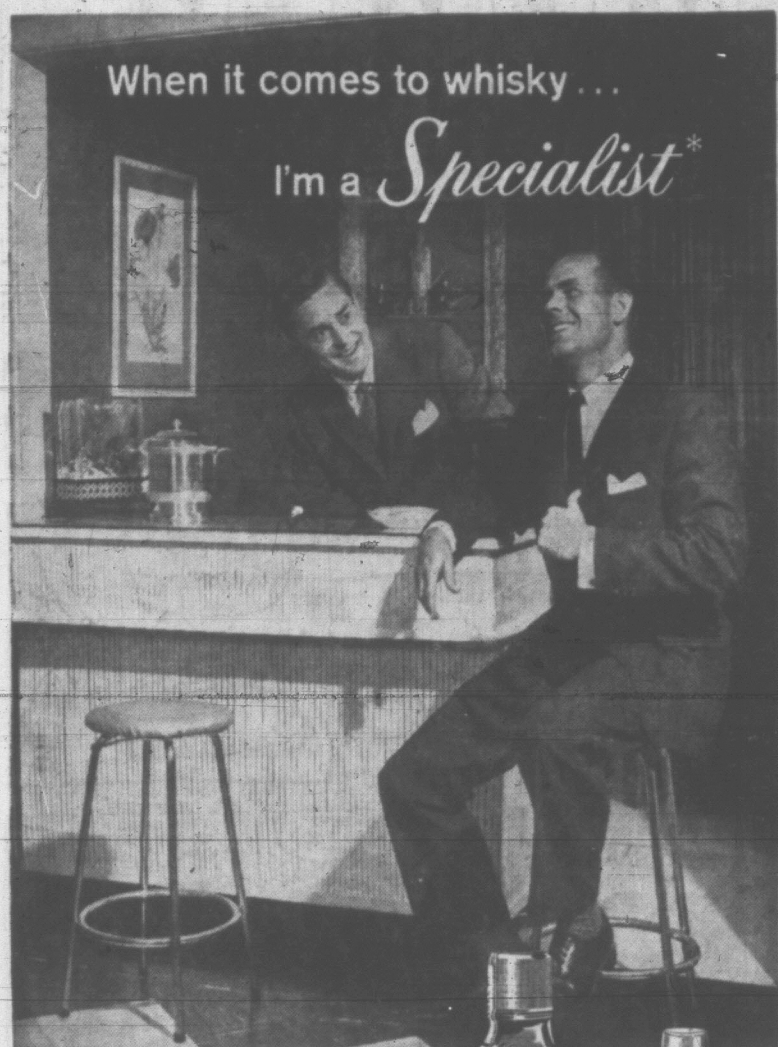

Stewart, former chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is leading the 17-man mission touring all major Australian cities before going to New Zealand.

He said that neither separately nor jointly could Canada or Australia compete with these blocs on recognized markets.

"We must find new markets and quickly."

Rustproofing?

Rambler spills more than others use!

Here in Canada, drivers experience some of the worst weather and driving conditions in the world. Most rust and corrosion, which start inside body panels and girders, is caused by the salt spread on our roads. To eliminate this problem, here's what Rambler is doing about it.

GALVANIZING Side body panels below the doors are galvanized. This area is constantly exposed to salt.

DEEP-DIP The entire car body is submerged six times into huge tanks. Each time a solution cleans, scours and prepares the surface of the metal.

PRIMER DIP The car is dipped again, right up to the roof, in rustproofing primer paint. Hundreds of gallons surge inside girders and pillars, reaching all corners, crevices and curved areas. This is more rustproofing than any other Canadian car gets, and more spilled, literally, than others use. The body then receives a second primer which is sprayed on. Well over 15 pounds of rustproofing primer now coat the steel. After this, the primer paint is baked on.

TRIPLE ENAMELLING A chip-resistant, salt-resistant super enamel is sprayed and baked on. A second and third coat follow immediately, then baked to a durable gloss.

SEALING A corrosion-inhibiting wax compound is sprayed inside girders, rocker panels and fenders. A sealer compound is also sprayed on critical underbody areas to provide additional protection.

The Canadian Rambler is the most completely rust-proofed car in the world. Visit your nearest Rambler dealer soon. Take a test drive for the final reason why Rambler is Canada's best car value.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

French Grammar Stumbling Block

By JACK HUTTON
(Dr. Wilder Penfield, the well-known neurologist, recently suggested that children of English and French-speaking families exchange homes every so often to promote bilingualism.)

(Today young readers of Teen-Age Canada submit their views on one of the most widely-discussed questions in Canada.)

Canadian teen-agers want to speak conversational French in order to understand their own country better—but many feel an over-emphasis on grammar is a stumbling block.

That, at least, is the message which I read out of letters I've received from 35 teen-agers in the last month.

About one month ago we asked in the column whether you felt the teaching of French was worthwhile in your opinion. Here were the results:

All 35 teen-agers said they felt they were getting too much "book-larin"—and not enough actual practice with the language. Each said he or she someday wanted to speak the language.

Each one suggested that it might have helped to start earlier. Several said they were lucky enough to have had an early start—and figured it helped them immensely.

A Trend
I don't believe we can conclude that our little survey proved anything, but it is at least a trend. Typical of the letters (which I enjoyed very much) was this one from Jim Baker, 16, of Calgary, Alta.:

He wrote: "I was delighted to see that someone actually cares about what teen-agers think. The learning of French is something close to my heart and I'd like to tell you why."

"Two years ago when I started French in high school I liked it but couldn't see any particular use for it. Then I got the chance to spend three weeks travelling around Quebec during summer holidays."

"That really opened my eyes, or ears if you want to be correct about it. For the first time in my life it struck me right between the eyes that here were other teen-agers in my own country—and I could not talk to them."

"Sure, I could say 'bonjour, merci' and all that. But when it came to a simple thing like ordering a meal I was tongue-tied. I haven't been back there yet. But when I do, believe me, I'm going to get a lot more out of it."

A reader from Victoria, B.C., who signed herself "An Enthusiastic French Student," wrote: "I am lucky enough to be in a class which has taken French since Grade 5 on an experimental basis."

Experimental

"We have, therefore, had an extra three years to learn to read and speak the language... I would like to see French started even earlier, perhaps Grade 1 or 2—conversational French at this early age, with French grammar in a letter grade."

Sandra Smith of Toronto agreed. "I think that the teaching of French should begin in Grade 2 or 3 as a compulsory subject," she wrote. "I do not mean that they should be taught all the proper grammar, but conversational French in everyday terms."

"We in high school need much more conversational French than we are now getting and a little less book-larin". When confronted with giving a small composition or carrying on a conversation we're tongue-tied, trying to think of the correct way to say it."

Roy Howes, 18, of Halifax, N.S., had an idea echoed by several others: "Why not," he asked, "organize more summer trips into Quebec by high school students? I learned more French there in one summer than I had in three years of high school."

Our conclusion: Canadian teen-agers are just as aware of the bilingual problem in Canada, if not more so. I'd suggest looking around for inexpensive records that might help you.

Your best buy: a language familiarization course originally designed for the U.S. Department of Defence is now available for $5. It offers two records with two hours of basic pronunciation and conversation.

Write Educational Services 1730 Eye Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C., if you're interested. This is the best French language aid I've seen yet at this low price.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to select in answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Bob Zelenka, age 10, Vermillion, S.D., for his question:

What Is a Pangolin?
Imagine a pine cone six feet long. You would be even more astonished to see this great pile of scales start to amble over the ground or scuttle up the steep side of a cliff. It might even roll itself into a big ball, bristling all over with jagged knives. This living, overgrown pine cone is the pangolin—one of the anteaters whose special job is to help keep down the world's ant and termite population.

This living pine cone of an animal is an anteater of the Old World. We find him in tropical, termite-infested regions of Asia and Africa, in the West Indies and on certain warm islands of the Pacific. He may be a little tree-dweller 18 inches long, plus a 12-inch tail. He may be a giant, six feet long, too heavy to climb a tree.

There are many pangolin cousins, large and small, but all of them look alike. The bulky body stands on four stubby legs and tapers to a long, slender snout. As he ambles clumsily along, he drags behind him a tapering tail which is sometimes longer than his head and body.

The most remarkable feature of the pangolin is the scales which cover what you can see of him from his head to the tip of his tapering tail. They are overlapping triangles of horny plate, sometimes five inches wide and three inches long. These scales make him look like a pine cone, but they are far more dangerous than a pine cone. Each is pointed with a sharp tip and bordered with knife-sharp edges.

The underside of the pangolin is bare. When threatened, he rolls into a ball with his knives on edge and the soft underside safely inside. He also may lash his sturdy tail, trying to trap the leg of his enemy. When this happens, he uses his daggers to saw and saw and saw. If the enemy escapes he may limp away on three legs—and never attack a pangolin again.

Pangolins are less plentiful than they once were. They are hunted for their meat, and modern weapons are too much for them. Mrs. Pangolin has but one baby at a time. Twins are very rare. Junior is born with soft scales which harden in a few days. Soon Mama is taking him out riding, perched on her scaly tail. When trouble threatens, she curls her tail around and wraps Junior safely inside her ball of scaly knives.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Boy Lyricist" Dick Rodgers... who'll be 60 in about three months... is celebrating the success of his "No Strings" show by drinking... no, not champagne!... just gingerale.

"Why? Because I feel so much better the next day—and it pleases my baby."

"Dick patted his wife on the cheek as he said it, upstairs at Al & Dick's, after he'd finished reading one of the rave reviews the other night. I'm not printing this to encourage the prohibitionists, but just to show how a great man, who admits he likes to drink, works."

"It's nice to know I can do it," he said... concerning his ability to write words as well as music... "but I'm not such an egotist as to think I'm as good with lyrics as Alan Jay Lerner."

"For me not to work with him would be like not giving somebody a jalopy for a Cadillac," he said.

Dick meets with Lerner soon to talk about the somewhat vague "Rodgers & Lerner show for next fall. He was kissing his wife, daughters, a guest by the name of Myrna Loy, and numerous others when I sked the hero of the evening what he had for supper on the night of his great triumph.

You ready, now, for his answer?... A hamburger.

Dave Garraway and Betty Furness keeps claiming it doesn't mean a thing... so how come she wears her newest wig?... Lauren Bacall was very, very happy watching hubby Jason Roberts, Jr., playing comedy in "A Thousand Clowns" in Boston... Hugh O'Brien sent protégée-girl friend Bernice Massi a huge bouquet shaped like a star for her "No Strings" opening... Herb Shriner's moving his theatre-size pipe organ to his home in Fort Lauderdale... "It weighs 80,000 pounds. Boy, what lot of excess weight!" says Herb... Doug Edwards is real bitter at CBS for not freeing him so he can take "a fabulous offer" from another network (ABC)...

Dick Clark getting married? At the Peppermint Lounge he pinned an orchid on his gal, saying, "This may be the last time I pin one on Loretta Martin."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Liberate got Keely Smith on stage to Twist with him at the Latin Quarter... Errol Flynn's son Span, in Majores, wants to use his father's yacht, but can't afford a crew... Some women at the Volcan ordered "whatever Kirk Douglas is having"... chicken hash and champagne.

Stripper Ann Cario's getting $150 a week in the off-Bway "This Was Burlesque"; the stagehands get $250... Betty White was a last-minute sub for Anita Louise in "Light Up the Sky" in Palm Beach... Connie Francis, whose next album features Irish tunes, will be listed on the cover as "Connie O'Francis"... Singer Nan Wynne, who whipped cancer, said at the Pen and Pencil she'll tour for the Cancer Fund, and will resume her career...

EARL'S PEARLS: Just about the only married man whose wife will cheerfully let him spend a night out with the boys is a scoutmaster.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Texan back from Rome explained to friends he didn't have a coin to toss in the famous fountain there: "So I threw in a chequie."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: You've reached middle age when all sports leave you winded... including just reading about them.

Don Sherman notes that some southern towns are traffic traps: "In Georgia I skidded into a ditch—and they gave me a ticket for illegal parking"... That's earl, brother.

Man Falls Into Boiling Brew

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg brewery employee suffered second and third degree burns over most of his body Tuesday when he fell into a vat of boiling brewing compound. Adam Ostwald, 48, an employee of Pellissier's Brewery Limited, was measuring the depth of liquid in a 5,000-gallon vat when his measuring stick broke. He apparently fell while trying to retrieve the stick.

GRISLY EXHIBITS AT TRIAL

Two Guilty of Bull Theft

Two Sooke loggers—Robert Archibald Simpson and Hector McMillan Reid—were found guilty in Assize Court here late Wednesday afternoon of stealing a 500-pound bull from farmer William Smith at Becher Bay, East Sooke.

The guilty verdict was returned after 25 minutes deliberation by a jury of 11 men and one woman. The two men were remanded in custody for sentencing at a date to be set by Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton. A number of Sooke residents attended the two-day hearing in which 16 witnesses were called by Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie and defence counsel James Proudfoot.

RCMP officers produced a number of grisly exhibits in support of the prosecution. They included the vertebrae of a bull parceled in brown paper, and 10 pounds of bones and decaying meat wrapped in cellophane.

RCMP officers said farmer Smith turned over the head of the bull, the vertebrae and some of its intestines after finding them in his corral. He said the bull had been stolen and butchered and the carcass taken away.

The meat and bones were recovered from a deep freeze at the Quandalla Kennels of Mrs. Annie Wood, 21 Atkins Road, Colwood. She said they had been left there by Simpson.

The bull's vertebrae, with the meat and bones, a hammer, and some hairs recovered from a car by police officers, were sent to the RCMP laboratories at Regina, where scientific tests indicated that they belonged to the same animal.

Constable Robert Ernest Smith said he examined a truck belonging to Simpson and found in it some hairs and a knife with bits of meat adhering to the blade.

HAMBURGER

Langford butcher Floyd Rowe tentatively identified one of the accused as a man who brought 20 pounds of meat to his store to have it ground into hamburger.

"I knew it was bull meat when I handled it," he said.

RCMP officers testified that tire marks found near Farmer Smith's corral were identical with those on Simpson's truck.

Mr. Justice Wootton estimated the worth of the bull at about $100 in the butchered state.

"It would have been worth a good deal more for breeding purposes," he said.

Riding Enthusiasts To Study Dressage

Oak Bay Keeps Present Law On Pigeons

Oak Bay council has decided against amending its bylaw to allow larger pigeon coles in the area.

The amendment was first considered after a resident's son was told by the municipality that his loft was too large.

Through his father, he asked that the bylaw be changed and council promised to consider it. However a petition was circulated protesting the move and gained 62 signatures.

A petition in favor of the move which had been circulated by the boy and a friend gained 100 signatures.

A large turnout of lower Island horsemen is expected when the newly-formed Vancouver Island Dressage Association (southern division) holds a meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the council chamber at City Hall.

An informative program has been drawn up which will be presided over by Mrs. Joan Dunbar of Victoria, instigator of the association.

Mrs. Dunbar hopes to see dressage events included in Island horse show programs. (Dressage is perfection in riding where horse and rider perform as one in a wide variety of manoeuvres.)

A lecture and films, with a question and answer period, will include Olympic competition in dressage.

The meeting will be open to all horsemen and persons interested in riding.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

PHOENIX, Ariz. (NEA)—A crooked promoter with a hatchet and a little black bag sent William Robert Vale to the dogs during the depression—and won the undying gratitude of the large, soft-spoken Irishman.

In 1937, the promoter built a dog track in Phoenix, Big Bill Vale's birthday. The 14-year-old boy got a job with a local kennel, swamping and walking dogs at $3 a day. "They raced coyote and rabbit dogs then," recalled Vale, biting into a steak the size of a Great Dane in the Kennel Broiler Club at Phoenix Greyhound Racing Park. "They weren't refined, like today's greyhounds. It was no fun walking 10 or 12 of them without muzzles—especially when you ran into a sporting bull terrier or a cat."

"The track folded in 10 days. The promoter came in with a money bag with a hatchet in it one night. He chopped a hole in the backside of the mutual room at the end of the night's racing, extracted all the cash, and headed for greener pastures."

"The man I worked for owed me $35 for seven days' work and couldn't pay," Big Bill reminisced, impaling a French fried onion. "A guy who knew dogs advised me to take one in payment. I did, then acquired a female and a year and a half later was racing a litter of pups which ranged from fair to good."

Vale ran his dogs with modest success until 1942, when he joined the army. His mother kept the stable in action while he was being banded around with the Rangers in North Africa and Italy. Big Bill was discharged in 1945 with enough money to expand his stable and has been doing fine ever since.

"My kennel has earned as much as $34,000 a year," he recollected. "Some make $100,000 or more. I lease from 30 to 60 dogs to three different trainers."

No Longer a Shady Proposition

Knownable dog track habitués estimate that Vale, a shrewd better, may make as much as $75,000 a year wagging.

"Dog racing may have been a shady proposition at one time," conceded Vale, "but so was horse racing, once. Now they're both eminently respectable and well regulated—and the rewards from dogs are greater in proportion to the outlay."

"A good kennel can be purchased for between $30,000 and $50,000 and with good young dogs and good bookies should gross $200,000 in two years."

"Dog racing is getting bigger and better every year. Denver mutual play jumped from a $95,000 average a night to $337,650 in 10 years. Part-mutual wagering on dogs is legal in nine states."

Vale believes one reason dog racing progresses so rapidly is that operators are not hidebound, are open to new ideas. "Like the Big Q, they are here."

Big Q betting is a combination of quinnella and daily double wagering. Patrons try to pick the dogs finishing first and second in the ninth race. If they succeed, they swap their "live" tickets for a similar quinnella bet on the 10th race. All Big Q money is pooled and whacked up between the winners. Payoffs have ranged as high as $7,216.40 for $2.

"Big Q betting keeps the people here for the last race," William Robert Vale concluded as he chomped chesecake. "You know, I'd sort of like to find that promoter who headed for the hills with all the loot in 1937. I owe him a lot."

"He might be down and out—and I'd like to give him a job."

IN ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Cowboys' Owner Hits Key Chord

BALTIMORE (AP)—Clint Murchison Jr., 38, owner of the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, touched on a key issue of the American Football League's anti-trust suit Wednesday as he outlined the reasons behind NFL expansion in 1960.

The Texas financier told U.S. district court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who is hearing the case without a jury, that the NFL's expansion into Dallas was moved ahead one year after the AFL announced plans to field a Dallas team.

He said this was done in order "to get off on even footing" with the rival AFL.

Murchison said he asked for a commitment about Dallas from expansion chairman George Halas of the NFL Aug. 29, 1959, so "we could negotiate for the Cotton Bowl, and so we could dissuade Lamar (Hunt) from starting a new league, which I felt he was doing because he thought there wouldn't be an NFL franchise in Dallas."

The reason for the NFL fielding a team in Dallas and the timing of the move had been key issues in the AFL's $10-

BIG GAMES AHEAD

United Returns, And Mars, Too!

It's been a long time between games, but Victoria United comes marching back into the Pacific Coast Soccer League picture Saturday.

Vancouver Canadians (Neil McEachnie and companions) move into Royal Athletic Park to provide United with its first league match in exactly a month.

Victoria manager Wally Milligan, looking forward to "two of the most important matches of the season" this Saturday and the next one.

So the brilliant Mars also comes marching back this weekend.

Milligan said this morning that Mars, who looked very well in a practice game last Saturday, will definitely play this weekend.

That means the valuable Geoff Hill, who filled in for Mars at centre half, will return to the centre forward's spot.

"THE BEST TEAM" "We'll have the same lineup starting as the one that beat Columbus 5-0 back in February," said Milligan. "That was our best team, by far, this season."

Milligan will certainly need his "best team" on hand. Saturday's game against Canadians and a March 21 match with Firefighters in Vancouver may very well open the door on the PCSL's second-half championship.

"If we win those next two," Milligan suggests, "we'll take a lot of catching."

CORNER KICKS: North Shore was originally scheduled to play United in a fourth-round Province Cup match...

...but the league ("behind the eight-ball with its games," says Milligan) re-scheduled the game to mid-April...

Two-Goal Spread Satisfies Benfica

LISBON (CP)—Benfica, defending champions in the European Cup tournament, fell short of their target in their semi-final against Tottenham Hotspur Wednesday night. But a home crowd of 70,000 fans wasn't unduly disappointed.

Before the match, officials of the Lisbon club said they wouldn't feel comfortable unless they carried a three-goal lead into the second half of the two-game series at London's White Hart Lane April 5. As matters turned out, they had to settle for a two-goal victory.

But Benfica's wide margin in play, plus a heavy schedule of league and Football Association Cup assignments for the Spurs, established the champions as solid favorites to advance to the finals against the winners of the other semi-final round between Real Madrid and Standard Liege of Belgium.

EARLY ASSAULT An early assault brought Benfica its first goal by centre forward Jose Aguiar and right-winger Augusto made it 2-0 14 minutes later.

Spurs got back into the game eight minutes after half time when Danny Blanchflower, their Irish international wing half, passed into the goalmouth and centre-forward Bobby Smith headed the ball home. But Augusto re-established the two-goal lead 11 minutes later.

Spurs came out of the game with a moral victory. Dave MacKay, their Scottish wing half, successfully carried out his covering assignment on Silva Eusebio, Benfica's dangerous inside forward from Mozambique.

The 19-year-old sniper, rated the deadliest shot in Europe, didn't get a goal.

BOB CLEROUX TO FIGHT ZORA FOLLEY APRIL 16

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Al Bachman, co-manager of Bob Cleroux, said Wednesday night he has accepted an offer for the Canadian heavyweight champion to meet Zora Folley in San Francisco on April 16.

Bachman said the offer to Cleroux called for a guarantee of "close to $10,000."

At the same time, middleweight champion Gene Fullmer was reported ready to defend his title in May against Denny Moyer at Bozeman, Mont., if television details can be worked out.

Jailed 'Sons' Blame Leaders

NELSON (CP)—Twenty Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were sentenced to terms ranging from three to 10 years Wednesday at the conclusion of an Assize Court trial at which unprecedented testimony was heard.

Before passing sentence Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan told the accused, charged with conspiracy to commit arson or attempted arson, their radical sect was free to leave Canada at any time.

But he warned that the more crimes sect members commit the harder it would be to have another country accept them.

POINT TO SOROKIN

During the trial, for the first time in the troubled history of British Columbia's Southeast Kootenays, some of the accused pointed to spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin and other sect leaders and the men behind bombings and arson.

The sentences of some of the accused will run concurrently with sentences passed for other offences earlier in a special assize that started here in January. More than 100 members of the sect have been sentenced or face trial on terrorist charges.

SOME NOT GUILTY

Mr. Justice Ruttan ordered not guilty verdicts to be delivered in some cases.

Thirteen of the accused testified that they followed the orders of the governing fraternal council because of religious prophecies that the sect would leave Canada through jails. Stefan Sorokin was said to have instructed terrorism from his home in Uruguay and to have meted out punishment for those who disobeyed his orders.

Mr. Justice Ruttan, commenting on the prophecies, said there is no power in Canada attempting to keep the sect and it can leave on its own accord.

He said Freedomites must have misgivings about the fraternal council because the orders it issues to them do more harm than good.

against them in order to break even.

Mr. Williston said that in treaty negotiations B.C. had tried to get permission to deal on its own with the U.S. But the Americans had been afraid B.C. would dump benefits at a price lower than that charged by their own power companies at present.

Mr. Williston admitted B.C. had no "firm" agreement to sell the benefits for 5 mills. "But discussions have taken place right in that area and there is nothing to indicate it would not be taken."

Actually it wouldn't be necessary to get 5 mills.

If B.C. could raise cash in the U.S. to build the treaty dams at 5½ per cent interest, 4½ mills would offset the cost.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Ottawa had always given "outright refusal" of grants to help pay for the dams—unless there had been any offer "in the last few days" while Premier Bennett was there.

He said Ottawa had given assurance before the treaty was signed that it would agree with B.C. on disposal of the benefits before it ratified the treaty.

After listening to all this, Mr. Strachan claimed it was "a talk of utter desperation."

He said the two-river plan "destroys the chances of cheap power in B.C. for the next 20 years." It would not attract new big industries for at least 10 years.

U.S. Industry

Sale of the benefits would only help build industry in the U.S. instead.

"It is a power policy built on the shifting sands of political desperation."

"It is a desperate gamble with the hope you can stay in office."

"I don't believe the government has the right to gamble with the taxpayers' money."

He said he could promise the people of B.C. full co-operation with Ottawa instead of feuding.

"I promise I will co-operate with Canada and bring great benefits to the people of B.C."

This would mean big grants as well.

"The premier desperately wants an election and I want an election, too. And I warn you I'll win."

Power Policy

It would be the fifth election in 10 years of Social Credit power—"this province is worse than France."

Mr. Williston said he was happy; the people of B.C. could choose on the basis of power policy. He challenged the Opposition to lay its policy on the line, too.

Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF-Kaslo Slocan) said the policy was that one river development would "do the job." And the Columbia should be the one to come first.

"I'm pleading for some economic sanity," he said.

B.C. would have $3,000,000 in debt with the two-river plan.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said the Peace power would be so expensive initially it would have to be sold at a loss to be as cheap as the government claimed.

He called for small developments on other rivers such as the Clearwater and McGregor, and use of thermal plants.

Mr. Williston said that the initial price of the Peace power was not a fair comparison with Columbia power. Averaged out for full development it would be "within three tenths" of 3.61 mills in Vancouver, cheapest Columbia estimate.

Mr. Williston said that B.C. wanted to meet its goal of providing power for future needs through a planned, phased development, not a series of crash programs.

"We need three things right now: we need jobs for our people; a pool of electrical power to act as a magnet to attract industry; and to organize our development in such a way that the unit cost of the power will be the cheapest possible to attain."

Planned, co-ordinated construction of these two projects started now will bring the lowest possible unit cost of power to B.C."

Mr. Williston refuted Opposition charges that B.C. had delayed the Columbia.

Contracts for the first treaty dam could be called "tomorrow." And the dam, at Duncan Lake, could reap power benefits with 18 to 24 months. The second treaty dam, Arrow Lakes, could realize power within about 30 months.

Gilhen Installed President of Legion

Cmdr. E. J. Gilhen was installed as president of the Esquimalt branch, Canadian Legion, Wednesday.

Peter F. Francis was elected first vice-president and George R. Harvey, second vice-president. Honorary president is Commodore H. A. Winnett, commodore superintendent of HMC Dockyard.

Committee chairmen for the coming year are: J. Kean, A. H. C. Jones, A. Allnut, Morley

T. Davies, B. S. Chambers, L. S. Henderson and F. J. Stewart. Reginald Cook is sergeant-at-arms. Rev. William Hills is padre, and William Stewart is service officer. J. E. Radley, deputy zone commander, presented the branch with the provincial command plaque for having the highest percentage of new members in the zone.

'Miracles' Approved

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican Congregation of Rites has approved two "miracles" attributed to Dominican Friar Martín de Porres, a 16th-century Peruvian Mulatto who is the patron of his country's barbers. The action virtually completed the process of canonization, and Vatican sources predicted he will be proclaimed a saint at ceremonies in St. Peter's Basilica, May 6.

Sir W. Francis Taylor was the presiding judge of Liverpool Court of Passage until April, 1948, when he was 93 years old.

HELICOPTERS MAY BEAT CONGESTION

TORONTO (CP)—B. T. Richardson, editor of The Telegram, said Wednesday night traffic congestion may force Toronto's daily newspapers to use helicopters instead of trucks for deliveries into the suburbs.

Mr. Richardson, speaking to the graduate dinner of the University of Toronto, School of Business, said the newspapers as an alternative may use off-set printing plants in the suburbs.

Gorge Hospital Seeks New Wing

Total of 574 patients entered Gorge Road Hospital last year for a 321 per cent increase in admissions, annual meeting of the hospital society was told Wednesday night.

"Our rehabilitation program has expanded and gathered momentum and we are bursting at the seams," said president Mrs. Irene Warren in emphasizing the need for a $200,000 new wing.

The construction project, announced last month and endorsed by Greater Victoria metro health board, will require a public fund drive this spring for $65,000.

Balance of the capital will come from government grants towards the rehabilitation wing which will provide a hy-drotherapy pool, administration offices and patients' gymnasium.

CHRONIC CARE

The new wing would further the hospital's partial conversion from chronic care to rehabilitation aimed at returning patients to the community by teaching them to cope with disabilities.

The shift began in 1950 and was responsible for the 574 admissions and 554 discharges last year.

Mrs. Warren reported a $1,307 operating deficit for 1961 was outweighed by non-operating income to produce a $2,101 surplus, but she warned that the hospital will need a "substantial and realistic" increase in operating funds this year from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

Doctors Charged As Abortionists

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)

Two physicians — one the brother of a U.S. federal judge — have been indicted in connection with a series of abortions. Dr. Benjamin Kaufman, 59, a brother of Judge Irving Kaufman, is accused of arranging five abortions.

Dr. Grayson Waldrop, 43, and his wife, Virginia, 44, are accused of committing six abortions. They are parents of Lynda Waldrop, 17, U.S. middle Atlantic, figure skating champion.

Icy Blast Kills Worker

CAHOKIA, Ill. (AP) — A man was frozen to death almost instantly Wednesday when a valve popped open and sprayed him with liquid ammonia being unloaded from a barge.

Thomas Fernandez, 27, was dead on arrival at a hospital in East St. Louis. Fernandez, the father of two children, was an electrician for the St. Louis Shipping Company.

Curtis Wilkenson, 33, an employee of the Caruthersville Towing Company, also was splattered with the solution. He was reported in fair condition in hospital. The shipbuilding firm said the liquid ammonia is kept under pressure at 28 degrees below zero.

Political Merger Advised for Kenya

LONDON (Reuters) — Colonial Secretary Reginald Maudling suggested Wednesday Kenya's "big two" rival African parties form a coalition or national government.

The suggestion was designed to break a deadlock in a constitutional conference here on the East Africa colony which entered its sixth week Wednesday.

The residents of Minnie Avenue wish to change the name of their street. Saanich public works committee is asking them to choose one of the following new names: Carathe Drive, Green Vale Heights, Green Vale Avenue or Sea Point Drive.

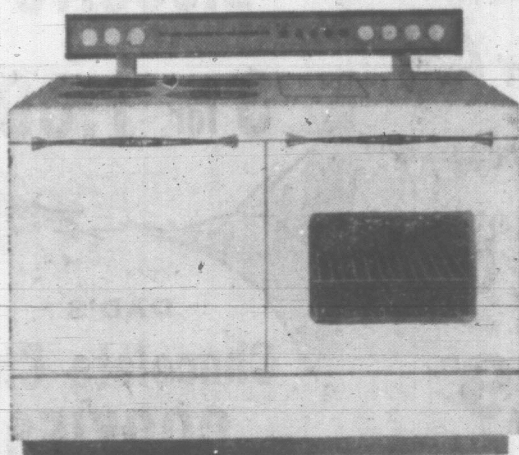

Maudling also proposed a new constitutional framework for the colony in which there would be a strong central government, along with six regional governments with strong constitutional powers.

The coalition proposal was promptly accepted "in principle" by James Gichuru, deputy leader of the opposition Kenya African National Union. The rival Kenya African Democratic Union, the government party, also met today to consider the proposal but arrived at no decision.

Kadu is demanding a federal system, while Kenyatta's followers are pressing for a strong centralized government.

KENNEDY REPORTS

Hope Remains For Test Ban

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says the United States and Russia have encountered disagreement in negotiating a nuclear test ban but that it is too early to abandon hope that some disarmament progress may yet be made at Geneva.

"It would be a mistake for us to feel that there the prospects are finished," Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday.

More heartening, in Kennedy's view, was the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the president's proposals for pooling of Soviet American scientific efforts in space exploration.

Released From Jail, Jail Again

A man released from prison earlier this month after serving two months on a charge of theft under $50 Wednesday started another jail term on a similar charge.

Franklin Orval Paar, no fixed address, was sentenced to eight months in prison by Magistrate William Ogilvie today when he admitted theft of a suitcase from a Douglas Street store on Tuesday.

Police said he walked into McMartin's Leather Goods Store, 1605 Douglas, picked up the suitcase valued at $45 and walked out again.

He was stopped on the street outside by the manager and then fled, but was stopped again by a policeman on Cormorant Street.

Prosecutor Angus Smith read out a history of petty thefts by Paar dating back to 1948. His last previous conviction, on Jan. 13 this year, netted him two months, Mr. Smith said.

On a variety of subjects, Kennedy had this to say:

SPACE GROUP MEETS
A few hours after the press conference, U.S. and Soviet representatives on the United Nations outer space committee met in New York.

Nuclear Controls—An array of observation posts around the world would be inadequate unless inspection teams were allowed inside Russia, for example, to determine whether a nuclear explosion or an earthquake caused signals picked up by detection instruments located elsewhere.

United Nations—Advocating the purchase of U.N. bonds, Kennedy said there is no evidence the United Nations would be able to pay back within the three allotted years a $100,000,000 loan proposed by Republican senators as an alternative.

Algeria—Reproaching Moscow for quick recognition of the provisional Algerian government, Kennedy said the United States will act when the proper moment comes rather than attempt "for political purposes to exploit a situation."

Cuba—Cuban plans to try prisoners captured in last year's futile invasion attempt as war criminals "is a matter of great national as well as personal distress," he said.

Campbell River Ends 'End of Road' Era to Become Northern Gateway

BY MURRAY POSKITT

The end of an era and the start of a new one will be celebrated at Campbell River next month with lots of "hoopla and whoopee."

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and a representative from the State of Alaska will be among the many prominent government, business and civic leaders taking part in special, day-long ceremonies April 12 to mark Campbell River's bright, new future as "the gateway to the north."

With construction now underway on final completion of the highway to Kelsey Bay, Campbell River is no longer "the end of the road."

To focus attention on the project and its significance to the whole Island, the Chamber of Commerce is organizing a "Highway Celebration Day."

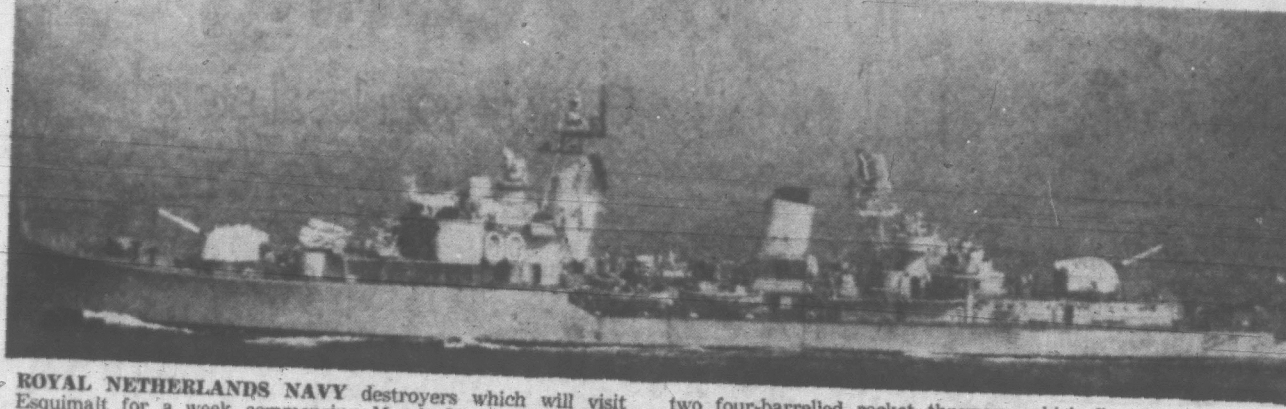

Highlights will include sod-turning ceremonies somewhere along the highway, with government, municipal and Chamber of Commerce officials, together with contractors participating, followed by a giant motorcade tour over a portion of the new highway.

The unique "Highway Celebration Day" is being organized to show: that Campbell River is no longer "the end of the road"; the importance of the planned federal government wharf at Kelsey Bay; significance of the new highway being a part of the planned Island Highway to Port Hardy; the part it will play in linking the Island Highway to the North B.C. coast for connection with Alaska ferries at Prince Rupert; an alternate route to northern B.C., the Yukon and the Peace River district.

Among officials who have already accepted an invitation to take part are: Mr. Gagliardi, R. Dowl- ing, commissioner of highways and public works for State of Alaska; Dan Campbell, MLA for Co- mox; William Hawkins of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau; William Laurie, Dawson Wade & Co.; John Brown, Miller Cartage and Contract- ing.

Carl Swabey, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, is chairman of the committee in charge of the event and Alan Maclean is general organizer.

ROYAL NETHERLANDS NAVY destroyers which will visit Esquimalt for a week commencing March 31 are of postwar Friesland class, as shown in official navy photo. They are 380 feet over-all, armed with four 4.7-inch and six 40-mm guns, and two four-barrelled rocket throwers, which fire depth charges. The visiting ships, the Groningen and Limburg, were both commissioned in 1956. They are rated as large fleet escorts, and have some side armor as well as deck protection.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1960—PAGE 17

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

From Dundee, Scotland, Dr. Harry Lillie writes to complain of cougar hunting on Vancouver Island by the B.C. game department.

Commenting on a clipping from the Victoria Daily Times of Feb. 27, Dr. Lillie asks:

"Is this hunting of cougars by dogs what can be called wild-life management? If so, is it any wonder that B.C. is known overseas as having the most backward wild-life service in Canada?"

"At a time when deer are breeding to excess, you are killing the cougars which, as predators, are your best friends in the management of deer. As taxpayers, you should demand an inquiry into the mentality of your game department."

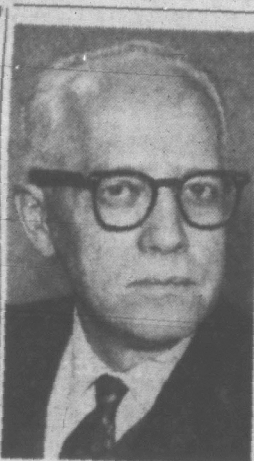

Dr. Lillie visited here last summer on a lecture tour of Canada and the United States. He complained of "discriminate killing" in both countries and objected to the shooting of a marauding cougar in downtown Victoria. "I have yet to hear of any human being killed by a cougar," he said.

History is in the news this centennial year. Mrs. Muriel Porto of Ladysmith recalls that Robert W. Service, the bard of the Yukon, once worked in a store about three miles north of Cowichan Bay and was known to her father, Robert Douglas, now living at Cobble Hill. Robert Service died in France four years ago, but his voice is still very much alive. Recitals of his own poems were recorded in Vancouver in 1949 and have been broadcast recently over Victoria station CFAX.

Mrs. J. R. Connon of 521 Linden Avenue tells me her son Capt. Eric Connon has been appointed commander of the Canadian Pacific motorship Beaverfur, now sailing between Saint John, N.B., and Liverpool. Educated at Sir James Douglas and Victoria High Schools, he has served in Canadian ships for more than 40 years, starting with the Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

In 1934 he joined the CPR as fifth officer in the passenger liner Empress of Russia between Vancouver and the Orient, and was first officer in the Empress of Scotland (formerly Japan) when she sailed the Atlantic as a troopship during the war.

Afterwards he transferred to the Empress of France as chief officer.

LECTURING on "International Tensions in Southeast Asia" on Monday at 8 p.m. in Victoria College auditorium will be Professor William L. Holland, head of the department of Asian Studies at UBC. Mr. Holland, a graduate of the University of New Zealand and Cambridge University, has written several books on Asian affairs. He has served throughout the Far East and the world with the Institute of Pacific Relations, and was in charge of the institute's Tokyo office. He was also director of the U.S. Office of War Information in Chungking. The lecture, sponsored by the Victoria University Extension Association, is open to the public.

Labor Clause Asked
A delegation of building trades union leaders asked City Hall to require use of union labor when awarding contracts for civic projects.

The Vancouver Island Building Trades Council representatives met Mayor R. B. Wilson for half an hour to put their case.

City Police Ask For Arbitration

Other Civic Unions Near Settlement In Negotiations on Working Contracts

A 4 per cent wage increase and an improvement in vacations was recommended today to city council to settle wage negotiations with three civic unions representing almost 500 persons.

At the same time, it was learned the approximately 100-member city police union plans to seek arbitration of its demand for a 9 per cent wage increase.

The three unions willing to settle at 4 per cent are: Firemen's union, with 87 members; "inside staff" union, with about 150 members; and "outside staff" union, with about 250 members.

If council agrees to the settlement, last year's total wage bill of $3,481,000 will go up by some $110,000—equivalent to slightly more than one mill in the tax levy.

If the policemen are successful in winning 9 per cent, another $54,000 will be added, amounting to half a mill.

VACATIONS, CLAUSE
Only other major change to the contracts for the three settling unions would be an improvement in the vacations clause—providing three weeks annual holiday after seven years of service instead of eight years.

For the firemen's union, acceptance of the new contract would mark the first time since 1949 that they had signed a new contract without going to an arbitration board. Originally, they requested a 9 per cent increase in an effort to achieve parity with the Vancouver fire department.

A 4 per cent increase will raise the basic salary for a fully trained fireman from $456 to $475 a month.

The policemen's request for a salary for a first-class constable from $456 to $497.

11% IN 1959
Last time the police won an increase, they were awarded an 11 per cent boost by an arbitration board in 1959.

Finance committee met behind closed doors to consider the contract settlements hammered out over a period of months by negotiators. The discussions between city and union officials went right up to the last minute before the meeting.

'Angry Young Men' Topic Of UBC Extension Seminar

"The Angry Young Men" is the topic of a two-day seminar to be held by Victoria College and UBC's Extension Department on Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31, at the Student Union Centre on the Gordon Head campus.

Dr. Ann Saddlemyer will open the program on Friday at 8 p.m. with a discussion of such young English playwrights as John Osborne, Harold Pinter and Arnold Wesker.

On Saturday at 9:30 a.m., a film entitled "Age of Dissent" which deals with the contrasting philosophies of young people in Britain and Canada will be shown. Following this, Dr. Werner Cohn of the department of sociology at UBC will lead a discussion on the same theme.

George Cuomo of Victoria College's English department will speak on the "angry young men" of America in the afternoon.

The seminar will be closed by a panel discussion between guest lecturers fortified by college staff members Anthony Emery of the history department and John Peter of the English department.

Mother of Four Steals $2,700

Pocketed Deposits, Made Out Cheques

BY HAL JONES

A 30-year-old city woman resorted to stealing more than $2,700 from her employer over a period of four months in order to provide "the necessities of life" for herself and her four young children.

The story was told in city police court today when Linda Jane Sanders, otherwise known as Linda Jane McLeod, of 1941 Joseph Street, pleaded guilty to 13 counts of theft from Colony Realty, 2968 Douglas Street, between Oct. 30 last year and Feb. 19.

Petite and dark haired, she stood motionless in the prisoner's box as the list of charges against her was read by the court clerk.

"I'd like to get on with it today," she whispered tearfully in answer to the magistrate's request as to whether she wished an adjournment to consult a lawyer.

City detective William Andrews told Magistrate William Ostler the woman had been employed at Colony Realty since Sept. 26 last as a book-keeper-stenographer.

The first 12 charges cited thefts of the following amounts: $100, $400, $200, $300, $100, $150, $100, $150, $80, $460, $300 and $200.

Det. Andrews said she stole the money sometimes by making out cheques to herself drawn on the company's accounts or by not depositing into those accounts cash deposits made to her by company salesmen.

The 13th charge cited theft

of several amounts, totalling $194, between Oct. 30 and Jan. 31.

The cheques made out to herself were authorized by the manager, the detective said.

Total amount stolen was $2,734.

Det. Andrews said that when she was arrested on Wednesday she told police her job at Colony Realty was the first time she had been employed for some months. Prior to that she had been on social assistance.

SOCIAL ASSISTANCE

She was expecting a further social assistance cheque at the end of September but it didn't come because she had started work towards the end of the month.

She had four children aged eight, seven, five and a half, and four.

"The father of these children is in the B.C. Penitentiary," Det. Andrews said.

NECESSITIES

"She told us she had found it necessary to steal the money to provide the necessities of life for her children and herself—blankets, clothes, food and a refrigerator," he said.

In answer to a question from the magistrate the detective explained the manager had admitted he had been very lax in not examining more closely the cheques the woman had made out to herself.

"She would present him a number of cheques to be signed at the same time," he said.

"Have you anything to say?" the magistrate asked the accused.

"No, sir," she replied in an almost inaudible voice.

She was remanded to appear before the court again March 29 for probation report and sentence.

LT. COL. HALL ... at William Head

Island Out As Douk Prison Site

Lt. Col. T. W. Hall, warden of the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster since 1960, returned to his native Victoria Wednesday during a visit to the open-type penitentiary at William Head.

An official at the New Westminster penitentiary denied a report that Col. Hall was over here looking for a site for a special jail for convicted Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists.

"We are not looking for a site on the island," he said, "but we are looking for a site on the mainland."

The official said this was necessary since plans to build a jail in the Columbia Valley had been cancelled because of protests from residents of Chilliwack and Cultus Lake.

While in Victoria, Col. Hall visited his mother, Mrs. Florence Hall at 1121 Collinson. Educated at Victoria High School, he joined the penal service as a guard in New Westminster in 1933, and was later appointed warden of Saskatchewan Penitentiary.

Son of the late Sgt. Thomas Hall of Victoria city police, he took over command of the Westminster Regiment at New Westminster last November.

Former Mayor's Will Leaves Estate Valued at $74,218

Reginald Hayward, 81, a former mayor of Victoria and Conservative member of the B.C. legislature, left gross estate to the value of $74,218, it was disclosed today.

Mr. Hayward had a life-long association with Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. Ltd., and retained his title of president until his death on Nov. 15, last.

In his will, probated at Victoria Courthouse, he left half of 147 shares in the company to his son, Reginald, and the proceeds of life insurance amounting to $1,257.

To his son, William, he also left half of 147 shares plus proceeds from life insurance amounting to $1,000.

His son, Charles, receives life insurance proceeds amounting to $1,038. The residue of the estate goes to the widow, Mrs. Isabella M. Hayward of 2140 Oak Bay Avenue.

A native of Victoria, Mr. Hayward followed his father, Charles Hayward, as mayor of Victoria and served as MLA for Victoria City in the government of Premier Simon Tolmie.

ORPHANAGE

He also followed his father as president of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, retaining this office for a number of years. Mr. Hayward was elected a school trustee in 1913; alderman (at the top of the poll) in 1922; mayor in 1923 and first member for Victoria in 1925.

He was associated during his lifetime with the Moose, Eagles, Native Sons of B.C., Native Sons of Canada, the Pacific Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Legion and the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Has the blasting of Ripple Rock been a success? Can large ships now pass through Seymour Narrows at all times? A.S.M.

A. It was successful on April 5, 1958, the $3,100,000 project reached its climax when an explosion lasting nine seconds was set off. The blast was recorded as far away as Edmonton. Providing they have sufficient power to navigate the strong tides, vessels may now proceed through the 12,500 ft. wide channel at any time. During the lowest tide of the year there is 47 feet of water over the rock.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Saanich municipality will engage in a $35,000 program of sidewalk construction during the coming year.

Engineer Neville Life said the sidewalks will be gravelled first and a decision made later on as to where to use concrete.

Exciting Styles Seen in Shows

The ultimate in elegance and femininity were shown in fashion models in the Empress Hotel Wednesday afternoon and evening when the Junior Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital presented two showings of "Easter Elegance" with fashions from the T. Eaton Company.

Blustery winds and showers were forgotten as the audience was treated to a combination of colors and styles against a backdrop of Romanesque pillars and massed roses.

The show opened with a collection of rain coats that would make women long for showers in order to wear them. Spring-fresh daisies were scattered over the navy blue pure silk raincoat and matching hat designed by Lawrence of London and worn by Joan Randall.

TEXTURE INTEREST

For the older woman Mrs. Beryl Davidson modelled a wool and mohair coat by Jack Clarke of Dublin, Ireland, simply styled in order to point up the texture interest of the loosely-woven material in mushroom and beige tones that was complemented with a Parisian beige straw fabric beret that had tiny satin bow as highlight.

A snowy white lining rustled under the magnificent coat of black Alaskan silk and nylon fabric shown by Patti Di Castri. An interesting side cut accented the inset pockets. Skirt was in the new flare line.

Leather piping and pom pom trimmed the Parisian red straw hat chosen by Eleanor Mollet to complement her suit in tiny black and white checks, styled with a box jacket and a femininely-soft skirt that was eased with box pleats all round. White embossed cotton was brought up to date in a sports outfit from Italy chosen by Penny Tisdale that had a mauve and green grosgrain ribbon trim on the long sleeves of the long blouse top. A large crisp collar framed her face as she modelled the blouse and matching shorts.

Gino Paoli of Italy gave an

Honored Guest

Mrs. Lois Hagen, MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood riding will be guest of honor at a New Democratic Party social evening to be held in Woodsworth Hall, Courtney Street, on Friday at 8 p.m. Other NDP MLAs are expected to attend. A varied entertainment program will be given and refreshments served.

to provide medical and surgical equipment for the hospital. Afternoon showing was opened by Mrs. George R. Pearkes and evening show, Alderman Lily Wilson.

Mrs. D. J. Hutter was general convenor, being assisted by Mrs. G. B. MacLeod, Mrs. D. Forrest, Mrs. R. Humphreys and Mrs. H. G. Ellis. Commentator was Ida Clarkson, and providing background music was May Landwer.

Shedlack of Italy made cocktail hour headlines in the suit of black pure silk pesante worn by Helen Beirnes with a wide-brimmed black straw hat. Semi-fitted jacket was trimmed with a draped chiffon scarf in black and white polka dot.

LAWN PARTY DRESS

The South of France was represented by a two-piece black and white party dress modelled by Sue Bassett. Of fine lawn, it was embroidered with black dots and finished with a black velvet belt and scalloped black braid trim on the hemline and base of the cover-up top.

Chiffon was featured over and over again. Nona Damaske was striking in a formal gown of golden yellow French chiffon that had a waistline encrusted with bugle bead fringe and opalescent paillettes. Final touch of femininity was in the capelet that flowed at back.

Fashion's darling, the crowded neckline, dramatized the long gown of pale lemon pure silk chiffon modelled by Irene Elton.

Male fashions for both day and evening wear were shown by Bob Olson and George Sager.

Fawcett-Brooke Vows Exchanged In St. Aidan's United Church

St. Aidan's United Church was the scene of a recent wedding that united Sandra Louise Fawcett and Edward Garry Brooke. Rev. A. C. McLeod officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fawcett of Calgary, Alta., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brooke, 3496 Calumet Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white peau de sole gown, highlighted with Alencon lace. Gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. Full, bouffant skirt was styled with a straight front panel and was slightly en train. Tiered illusion net veil misted from a cap made of a bow, edged with lily points of Belgian lace that gleamed with seed pearls. Green ivy complemented the white and red roses in the bouquet.

Raspberry pink gowns of peau de sole were chosen by bride attendants, the Misses Marcia Fawcett and Fern Sammon. They wore headpieces of tiny bows and veiling in the same shade and carried white roses and carnations.

Junior bridesmaid, Miss Linda Fawcett, was gowned in white flocked silk and had pink accessories and bouquet of red roses.

Table topics were led by Mrs. F. Dearman and Mrs. G. Kerr gave the lesson. Givings prepared speeches were Mrs. R. Butt, Mrs. D. Doore, Mrs. F. Mahoney, Mrs. M. Irvine and Miss V. Hodgson.

Speech evaluators were Mrs. P. Grafton, Miss H. Jewell and Miss M. Renny. General evaluator, Mrs. M. J. Chaplin awarded the spur to Mrs. Mahoney and the Oscar to Mrs. G. M. Irvine.

It was announced that "Birthday Night" would be held on Thursday, April 5, when prospective members would be able to attend and learn about the Club. Inquiries should be made by phoning Mrs. Irvine at EV 4-6525.

Lloyd Skelton was best man and ushers were Gordon Schoor and Bob Aylward. Two hundred guests attended a reception in the Club Tango where I. Sammon proposed the toast to the bride. Pink and white theme was carried out in the decorations of the four-tier wedding cake. Congratulatory telegrams were read from California, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Quebec.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to southern points the bride donned a three-piece ensemble and petalled hat in shocking pink shade, teamed up with black accessories. Newlyweds will make their home at Garden Park Court.

WONDER MACHINE recently acquired by Saanich fire department can clear-up indistinct emergency message and also clear fire department from mistakes arising out of misunderstandings. Equipment at right records radio messages, that at top left telephone messages, and underneath it is automatic time announcer. It is operated here by Dick Gibson, the department's watchroom attendant.

Electronic Gadget Aids Saanich Fire Department

By HAL JONES
Saanich fire department has just invested some $4,400 in an electronic gadget to ensure a greater degree of safety both to residents and the department itself.

It's a specialized development of a dictaphone and is used to record all messages concerned with the department's emergency services. Separate machines record radio and telephone messages, providing a non-stop, 24-hour coverage of all the department's business.

The advantages of this are numerous:
• A fire or accident victim may give the scene of the mishap indistinctly when he asks for help. The recording machine is equipped with an automatic volume control so when the message is played back the victim's words can be re-checked.
• If an excited person reports a fire but accidentally gives the wrong address and the fire department is asked to account for the delay in reaching the blaze, the recording provides indisputable proof.

There's another part to the equipment — an automatic time announcer. It is connected to both radio and telephone recorders.
PRE-RECORDED
At the end of each recorded message, the time of its receipt is recorded automatically. The pre-recorded female voice can stamp the time onto as many as eight different machines simultaneously if required.

The recorders employ substitute recording rolls so if one is out of commission or being played back the messages can still be recorded.

"It's the only one west of Winnipeg," Fire Chief Joseph Law said of his wonder machine.

"I saw the one there on my way back with the new Cadillac ambulance last year," he said.

SAVED FAMILY
Chief Law said the Winnipeg machine was known to have saved the life of a whole family. The father, overcome by fumes, had just managed to whisper out the address over the phone as he collapsed.

The message was clarified when played back and the department arrived just in time. The $4,400 price tag is practically negligible when it is realized that the equipment not only deals with Saanich fire department calls but also those of Colwood, Langford, View Royal, Central Saanich and Sidney.

Saanich police calls also will be handled when they move into the new police-fire headquarters later this year.

Polar Subsoil Data Exchanged
OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Flynn said Wednesday that Canada and Russia exchange scientific information on surveys of the polar continental shelf.

He made the statement as the Commons considered supplementary spending estimates of the mines and technical surveys department.

Replying to Harold Winch (CCF-Vancouver East), Mr. Flynn said the two countries exchange data on surveys taken on subsoils of the shelf.

"Co-operation is excellent with all countries on scientific information and Russia is no exception."

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Chemainus Talks About Secession

CHEMAINUS—The possibility of Chemainus seceding from North Cowichan Municipality to form its own local government will be discussed at a public meeting Thursday night in the Chemainus Fire Hall at 8 p.m.

Chemainus Ratepayers' and Citizens' Association are sponsors of the meeting, with Col. E. G. English as chairman. Guest speaker will be E. F. N. Robinson, Lady-smith barrister, who will explain the legal aspects of secession.

Relations between Chemainus residents and the North Cowichan Council have been on an erratic basis for some time, particularly since the thorny hospital issue last year.

ALBERNI—A charge of criminal negligence has been laid against Ronald Peter Pitman in connection with the Nov. 25 gunshot death of Forest Ranger F. E. (Ted) Brooks.

The forest ranger died instantly when a bullet penetrated the great arteries of his heart. He had been hunting with another member of the forest service when the accident occurred.

Magistrate A. Crozier committed Pitman for trial following a preliminary hearing Tuesday. He will be tried at a special assize court sitting in Nanaimo, likely in May.

LADYSMITH—Regular garbage pick-up service may soon be a reality to residents of The Diamond, a district just outside the northern boundary of Ladysmith.

T. Eastman and P. Gilson of The Diamond have received village commission consent to use the Ladysmith dump if their plans for a garbage service go through.

They were granted a three-month trial use of the dump at $1 a month. The commission hopes it will reduce recent incidents of illegal dumping.

COURTENAY—William Simpson and Edison Burgess Dixon, no fixed address appeared before Magistrate John Ryland this morning and were charged with robbery with violence in connection with the robbery of Rex Field. The two men allegedly struck Field and took a quantity of currency and goods from his Courtenay shop. Among the items taken was an expensive wrist watch.

Both men elected trial by judge without jury and have been remanded to March 30 for preliminary hearings.

LADYSMITH—Opening of the senior citizens' room at the Kinsmen Health Centre here Sunday will be the final installment for the Kinsmen Club which first started a preparation for the project three years ago. Besides housing the district health unit, the basement of the building contains the Happy Lark School for retarded children, and now a recreation room for Ladysmith's elderly. The health centre was officially opened in November of 1960.

COURTENAY—A serious outbreak of influenza in the Courtenay area has forced visitor restrictions in two Comox Valley hospitals after the death of a Comox woman early this morning.

Thirty-seven-year-old Mrs. Margaret Kenny died of influenza complications less than two hours after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital at 4.45 this morning.

A post mortem attributed her death directly to an acute flu attack. Hospital officials say the number of colds, flu and pneumonia cases have risen sharply in the past week but have not reached epidemic proportion. The type of flu prevalent in the area appears to be more virulent than normal.

St. Joseph's Hospital has restricted visitors to immediate family only and no one with any signs of cold will be allowed in. The restrictions were made in an effort to reduce the possibility of an influenza epidemic among patients. Cumberland hospital has ruled that no visitors will be admitted.

A coroner's jury in Duncan Wednesday agreed that the deaths of two men in a rock-fall at Port Renfrew the previous day were accidental.

Edward Paul Becker, 36, a construction engineer, and George Jonninen, 38, a head-rock-driller, were killed when a slope they were standing on gave way during drilling operations.

IT MAKES ONE WONDER HOW KIDS GROW UP!

TORONTO (CP)—Thirty-four per cent of the 1,329 accident victims brought to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children in January were injured in falls—on ice, in playpens, down stairs, off beds, ladders and tables, over boxes and out of windows.

Sports injured more than 200 children. Eleven per cent suffered poisoning—from taking headache tablets, battery acid, shoe polish and drain cleaner.

Blows from falling objects—including a sledhammer, five shovels and one toppling small girl—killed 19.

Others were injured by wringers, vacuum cleaners and meat grinders; fingers were squashed by doors; and pencils, pins and needles were stuck in eyes.

Objects swallowed included six pennies, two quarters, pins, corks and bobby pins.

Israel World Leader In Trade Unionism

Israel has developed the principle of trade unionism to a greater extent than any other democratic country, Vancouver MLA Arthur Turner told a meeting of Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night.

Mr. Turner, who spent several months studying Israel's government and social institutions, said all its doctors, now belong to the Federation of Labor and workers' wives have a vote in their husband's trade unions.

"Youth organizations operated by the Federation of Labor have virtually obliterated juvenile delinquency," he said.

"Parents living on rural kibbutz settlements turn their children over to the care of the village immediately they are weaned. Yet these and other harsh requirements of life are voluntary."

Mr. Turner said that Israel, a country smaller than Vancouver Island, has struggled under the weight of almost 1,000,000 new immigrants in the last 15 years.

Conditions of settlement facing the country at the beginning of the mass immigration of 1948 were so drastic that extreme measures had to be adopted by the government and the trade unions.

"They have been so successful that many of the emergent nations of Africa are patterning their systems on Israel rather than those of Britain," he said.

He said Israel is also notable for political and religious tolerance.

Trailer Hitch Charge Thrown Out

When can vehicle equipment be legally defined as equipment?

"When it's functioning," said prosecutor Angus Smith in city police court Wednesday.

Magistrate William Ostler disagreed.

The argument arose during the trial of Donald G. Collis, 4018 Douglas, charged with operating a vehicle and trailer without a safety chain.

Crown evidence showed that the safety chain was wrapped around the trailer's towing bar but was not connected to the towing vehicle.

Mr. Smith argued that a vehicle isn't equipped with a device unless that device is functioning.

WRONG SECTION
Magistrate William Ostler refused to uphold his argument. He said Mr. Collis had been charged under the wrong section of the Motor Vehicle Act.

The prosecutor asked to amend the charge.

"That would be unfair at this stage of the proceedings," said Mr. Ostler.

He ordered the charge be dismissed—Mr. Collis had at this time not uttered a word in his defence.

16 Die In Coal Mine Explosion

BURNLEY, England (Reuters) — Sixteen men were killed and 50 injured today when an explosion ripped through a coal mine near this northern English city.

Several men trapped by a gas pocket were rescued by teams of other miners. About 200 men were underground at the time of the explosion.

Algiers Paralyzed By Strike

ALGIER, AP — A general strike by European workers demonstrating their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary-general of the Railway Union Federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

STRUCK MONDAY

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the cease-fire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

The strike movement developed as the French Army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the cease-fire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces to clear out of Bab-el-Oued, a workers' quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by noon or be considered as occupation troops. But the government forces stayed put.

French gendarmes and secret army commandos battled openly for two hours in Oran Wednesday.

Throughout Wednesday night Europeans fired from balconies and windows on French Army patrols cruising Algiers' deserted streets. Terrorist attacks account for two Moslems dead and four wounded.

DETAIN 100

Police detained 100 persons for questioning in large-scale security sweeps.

In contrast with the bloodshed between Europeans there was calm throughout Algiers between French Army forces and the Algerian nationalists. French headquarters said leaders of the nationalist liberation front in a number of areas had offered their co-operation.

External Affairs Minister Green bristled when he heard discussions on disarmament would probably be shelved.

If the talks did not go on, Green said, "all impetus" of the 17-nation conference would be lost.

Green expressed deep disappointment at the delay already incurred. Supporting a previous speaker, he said this may

Court Orders Receivership For B.C. Electric Property

'DON'T YOU DARE'... BUT THEY DID

Furious finger was wagged at press photographers Wednesday by flier Frank G. Penney, Los Angeles, as he walked away from the plane he had just overturned on landing at Torrance airfield. Cameramen ignored his shouted admonition. Penney, 35, and his wife, Susan, 22, suffered minor injuries. Firemen had to pry them loose from the wreckage.

U.S. Kills Red Plans For Berlin Approaches

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed today that access routes to West Berlin be turned over to the Communist East Germans who would control them under the supervision of an international authority, an American source said. The United States rejected this approach.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made the approach in a private conversation with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, informants said.

It seemed evident the Russians had taken an idea expressed recently by President Kennedy and turned it inside out to meet their own aims. The president had said it might be possible to work out some international arrangements for international supervision of the land, air and water routes linking isolated West Berlin with West Germany, 110 miles away.

Butter Price To Drop

OTTAWA (CP) — Government-held butter stocks will be sold at 52 cents a pound, effective May 1, Acting Agriculture Minister Harkness announced today in the Commons. The current price is 54 cents.

He said the retail price of butter should emerge at between 56 and 59 cents a pound.

WIRE BRIEFS

Fleming Eyeing Tax?

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming is reported to be planning to lift the tax on exported electricity in his budget.

U.S. Plane Missing

SEATTLE (AP) — A U.S. Navy plane with 10 men aboard was missing today after developing engine trouble on a flight to California. The plane was attached to a naval air reserve training unit.

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming declined today to comment on press reports that Premier Bennett of British Columbia has asked the federal government to allow the province to build the Columbia Power project alone.

'SEND THIS PARLIAMENT HOME'

Tory Papers Urge Election Call

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The two leading Tory papers in Eastern Canada have come out on the same day, Wednesday, with editorials urging Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to dissolve Parliament and call an immediate election.

The Ottawa Journal states that for months it has heard reports, rumors and hints of an early election. It adds, "the time has come to turn this talk into action. To send this Parliament home."

The Toronto Telegram states: "It is becoming increasingly obvious that members of Parliament are using parliamentary debate as a prelude to their election campaigns. It is time for the prime minister to finish quickly government business and ask for dissolution."

BUDGET DURING APRIL MAY BE ELECTION TIP

OTTAWA (UPI) — The latest political rumor here is that Parliament will learn on April 12 the details of a federal budget which it will not live long enough to pass.

Word from Conservative sources which usually are well informed is that Finance Minister Fleming will table his fiscal program just one week before the expected Easter recess.

If the finance minister's proposals are well received by the public, Prime Minister Diefenbaker is said to be ready to dissolve Parliament and use them as an issue in a general election.

Students Quit In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters) — Guatemala University students today voted to suspend studies indefinitely and close the university doors until President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes resigns.

They also called for a resistance campaign beginning with the smashing of all street lights in the city.

Syrians Open Fire On Israelis

TEL AVIV (AP) — Syrian positions opened fire this morning on Israeli laborers working in fields of Kfar Seld settlement, a Galilean village close to the border, official Israeli sources said.

The fire was not returned and there were no casualties, they added. Israel lodged a complaint with a Syrian-Israeli mixed armistice United Nations commission.

Israel also charged that Syrian forces machine-gunned the upper Galilee settlement of Mishmar Hayarden for 15 minutes Wednesday night, again with no casualties.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Premier Masrouf Dawlati accused Israel today of flouting UN resolutions and urged that it be expelled from the United Nations.

Ties Up Assets During Action By B.C. Power

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Supreme Court of British Columbia today placed the B.C. Electric Company under receivership until litigation concerning the company is resolved.

The court appointed Dr. Harry Purdy, a professor of economics at the University of B.C. and former executive of the company, as receiver. He was ordered to post a bond of $1,000,000.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes made the order on application of the B.C. Power Corporation, former parent company of the crown-owned BCE.

In an 18-page judgment, the judge said there was no certainty that the assets "would remain in their present state and under their present control" if a receiver were not appointed.

The order applies to all the property and assets owned by the huge power utility. The receiver will have no part in BCE's management.

Dr. Purdy, president of the BCE before it was taken over by the government last August and vice-president of the publicly-owned BCE until he resigned last December, said he has accepted the appointment.

"I presume I will be getting instructions from the court but until then I don't know much about it," he said.

The government paid B.C. Power $111,000,000 as compensation for its 3,000,000 common shares in BCE when the utility was expropriated.

The corporation, claiming $225,000,000 would have been a fair price, has an action pending in Supreme Court to have the take-over legislation declared invalid.

A bill introduced in the legislature last week would increase the compensation to $171,000,000 as the fixed and final price and would forbid any court action against the Crown company or the attorney-general without government consent. The bill has not yet been passed.

Also awaiting a vote in the legislature is a bill to amalgamate BCE and the B.C. Power Commission, another government agency, under a single power authority.

Another question before the courts is a BCE appeal against a pre-trial Supreme Court order which requires it to permit examination of certain documents by the corporation. B.C. Power says it needs this to prove that the original legislation taking over BCE is invalid.

'No Inconvenience Can Be Envisaged'

Mr. Justice McInnes, in his written judgment, said that "while one cannot and must not predict what acts the legislature may hereafter pass in respect of the Electric Company and its assets, one would be naive indeed to predict with any degree of certainty that the assets of the Electric Company would remain in their present state and under their present control if a receiver were not appointed to preserve them."

"The question of convenience also has to be considered. On the one hand, the Power Corporation says it wants these assets preserved until the validity of the Power Development Act can be determined. Otherwise, the fruits of its victory, as I have indicated, would be barren."

"As for the Electric Company, no inconvenience can be envisaged if the powers of the trustee are limited to the preservation of property only, without authorizing or empowering such trustee to take over management of the Electric Company which should continue under the present directors and the duly appointed management officials."

The judge dismissed a submission by Charles Brazier, appearing for the BCE, that he could not appoint a receiver because of B.C. Power's action is before the Court of Appeal.

The Court of Appeal, Mr. Justice McInnes said, had considered neither the principal claim of B.C. Power that the

SLEEPWALKER NEAR DEATH IN NIGHTMARE

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — A sleepwalker, dreaming of a fire, crashed through a window in his third-storey bedroom Wednesday night.

200 Foot Avalanche Crashes Into Juneau

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An avalanche apparently triggered by a violent windstorm swept down from the top of 3,500-foot Mount Juneau today and damaged 12 houses in this Alaska capital.

The 200-yard-wide slide, and the force of wind ahead of it, shoved houses from foundations, tore off roofs and snapped trees and light poles.

The only injury reported was to one housewife who suffered minor glass cuts.

The slide hit at 5:30 a.m. when most residents were asleep.

Centennial Flashback...

MARCH 22
Estimates filed in the House of Assembly by Governor Douglas on behalf of the Colonial Government of Vancouver Island showed probable revenues of some $22,800, and expenditures of some $25,700, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1862.

Thomas B. Lewis of Lytton City presented a petition to the governor, from the inhabitants of Yale and Lytton, praying for the immediate construction of a wagon road from Boston Bar to the forks of Thompson River.

The seven-month-old son of Corporal Bowden, the governor's orderly, was badly burned when his clothing took fire while his mother was out of the room. Dr. Heimcken attended, but it is feared the child will die.

The U.S. revenue cutter Joe Lane was reported at Port Townsend.

Campbell River Ends 'End of Road' Era to Become Northern Gateway

BY MURRAY POSKITT

The end of an era and the start of a new one will be celebrated at Campbell River next month with lots of "hoopla and whoopee."

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and a representative from the State of Alaska will be among the many prominent government, business and civic leaders taking part in special, day-long ceremonies April 12 to mark Campbell River's bright, new future as "the gateway to the north."

With construction now underway on final completion of the highway to Kelsey Bay, Campbell River is no longer "the end of the road."

To focus attention on the project and its significance to the whole Island, the Chamber of Commerce is organizing a "Highway Celebration Day."

Highlights will include sod-turning ceremonies somewhere along the highway, with government, municipal and Chamber of Commerce officials, together with contractors participating, followed by a giant motorcade tour over a portion of the new highway.

The unique "Highway Celebration Day" is being organized to show: that Campbell River is no longer "the end of the road"; the importance of the planned federal government wharf at Kelsey Bay; significance of the new highway being a part of the planned Island Highway to Port Hardy; the part it will play in linking the Island Highway to the North B.C. coast for connection with Alaska ferries at Prince Rupert; an alternate route to northern B.C., the Yukon and the Peace River district.

Among officials who have already accepted an invitation to take part are: Mr. Gagliardi, R. Dowl-ling, commissioner of highways and public works for State of Alaska; Dan Campbell, MLA for Com-mox; William Hawkins of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau; William Laurie, Dawson Wade & Co.; John Brown, Miller Cartage and Contract-ing.

Carl Swabey, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, is chairman of the committee in charge of the event and Alan Maclean is general organizer.

ROYAL NETHERLANDS NAVY destroyers which will visit Esquimalt for a week commencing March 31 are of postwar Friesland class, as shown in official navy photo. They are 380 feet over-all, armed with four 4.7-inch and six 40-mm guns, and two four-barrelled rocket throwers, which fire depth charges. The visiting ships, the Groningen and Limburg, were both commissioned in 1956. They are rated as large fleet escorts, and have some side armor as well as deck protection.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1960—PAGE 17

HERE AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

From Dundee, Scotland, Dr. Harry Lillie writes to complain of cougar hunting on Vancouver Island by the B.C. game department.

Commenting on a clipping from the Victoria Daily Times of Feb. 27, Dr. Lillie asks:

"Is this hunting of cougars by dogs what can be called wild-life management? If so, is it any wonder that B.C. is known overseas as having the most backward wild-life service in Canada?"

"At a time when deer are breeding to excess, you are killing the cougars which, as predators, are your best friends in the management of deer. As taxpayers, you should demand an inquiry into the mentality of your game department..."

Dr. Lillie visited here last summer on a lecture tour of Canada and the United States. He complained of "indiscriminate killing" in both countries and objected to the shooting of a marauding cougar in downtown Victoria. "I have yet to hear of any human being killed by a cougar," he said.

History is in the news this centennial year... Mrs. Muriel Porter of Ladysmith recalls that Robert W. Service, the bard of the Yukon, once worked in a store about three miles north of Cowichan Bay and was known to her father, Robert Douglas, now living at Cobble Hill. Robert Service died in France four years ago, but his voice is still very much alive. Recitals of his own poems were recorded in Vancouver in 1949 and have been broadcasted recently over Victoria station CFAX.

Mrs. J. R. Connorton of 521 Linden Avenue tells me her son Capt. Eric Connorton has been appointed commander of the Canadian Pacific motorship Beaverfur, now sailing between Saint John, N.B., and Liverpool.

Educated at Sir James Douglas and Victoria High Schools, he has served in Canadian ships for more than 40 years, starting with the Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

In 1934 he joined the CPR as fifth officer in the passenger liner Empress of Russia between Vancouver and the Orient, and was first officer in the Empress of Scotland (formerly Japan) when she sailed the Atlantic as a troopship during the war.

Afterwards he transferred to the Empress of France as chief officer.

LECTURING on "International Tensions in Southeast Asia" on Monday at 8 p.m. in Victoria College auditorium will be Professor William L. Holland, head of the department of Asian Studies at UBC.

Mr. Holland, a graduate of the University of New Zealand, and Cambridge University, has written several books on Asian affairs. He has served throughout the Far East and the world with the Institute of Pacific Relations, and was in charge of the institute's Tokyo office. He was also director of the U.S. Office of War Information in Chungking. The lecture, sponsored by the Victoria University Extension Association, is open to the public.

Labor Clause Asked

A delegation of building trades union leaders asked City Hall to require use of union labor when awarding contracts for civic projects.

The Vancouver Island Building Trades Council representatives met Mayor R. B. Wilson for half an hour to put their case.

City Police Ask For Arbitration

Other Civic Unions Near Settlement In Negotiations on Working Contracts

A 4 per cent wage increase and an improvement in vacations was recommended today to city council to settle wage negotiations with three civic unions representing almost 500 persons.

At the same time, it was learned the approximately 100-member city police union plans to seek arbitration of its demand for a 9 per cent wage increase.

Headmasters To Visit Here On Symposium

Headmasters of 16 private schools across Canada will be in Victoria on Friday, March 30 as part of the first headmasters' conference to be held in western Canada.

Following a symposium at UBC on the Friday, the headmasters will travel to Victoria aboard the destroyer HMCS Skeena and visit Royal Roads in the afternoon.

In the evening, the headmasters will preside at tables of "old boys" from their respective schools now living in the vicinity, at a dinner at University School. Main speaker at the dinner will be Tony Emery of the history department at Victoria College.

Among the special guests will be a representative of private schools in the U.S., the headmaster of North Hollywood School.

AT SHAWNIGAN LAKE

On March 31 and April 1, the group will be guests at Shawnigan Lake School where further discussions will be held.

They will leave on Sunday for St. George's School, Vancouver, where the symposium will be continued.

The symposium at UBC will be chaired by Dr. Harry Purdy of the faculty of commerce. Topics for discussion will include the history of residential public schools, education, and religion in independent schools as well as their role in the educational system.

The conference is held for headmasters of the 16 independent schools in Canada teaching at the high school level.

'Angry Young Men' Topic Of UBC Extension Seminar

"The Angry Young Men" is the topic of a two-day seminar to be held by Victoria College and UBC's Extension Department on Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31, at the Student Union Centre on the Gordon Head campus.

Dr. Ann Saddlemyer will open the program on Friday at 8 p.m. with a discussion of such young English playwrights as John Osborne, Harold Pinter and Arnold Wesker.

On Saturday at 9:30 a.m. a film entitled "Age of Dissent" which deals with the contrasting philosophies of young people in Britain and Canada will be shown. Following this, Dr. Werner Cohn of the department of sociology at UBC will lead a discussion on the same theme.

George Cuomo of Victoria College's English department will speak on the "angry young men" of America in the afternoon.

The seminar will be closed by a panel discussion between guest lecturers fortified by college staff members Anthony Emery of the history department and John Peter of the English department.

Mother of Four Steals $2,700

Pocketed Deposits, Made Out Cheques

BY HAL JONES

A 30-year-old city woman resorted to stealing more than $2,700 from her employer over a period of four months in order to provide "the necessities of life" for herself and her four young children.

The story was told in city police court today when Linda Jane Sanders, otherwise known as Linda Jane McLeod, of 194 Joseph Street, pleaded guilty to 13 counts of theft from Colony Realty, 2968 Douglas Street, between Oct. 30 last year and Feb. 19.

Petite and dark haired, she stood motionless in the prisoner's box as the list of charges against her was read by the court clerk.

"I'd like to get on with it today," she whispered tearfully in answer to the magistrate's request as to whether she wished an adjournment to consult a lawyer.

City detective William Andrews told Magistrate William Ostler the woman had been employed at Colony Realty since Sept. 26 last as a book-keeper-stenographer.

The first 12 charges cited thefts of the following amounts: $100, $400, $200, $300, $100, $150, $100, $150, $80, $460, $300 and $200.

Det. Andrews said she stole the money sometimes by making out cheques to herself drawn on the company's accounts or by not depositing into those accounts cash deposits made to her by company salesmen.

The 13th charge cited theft

of several amounts, totalling $194, between Oct. 30 and Jan. 31.

The cheques made out to herself were authorized by the manager, the detective said.

Total amount stolen was $2,734.

Det. Andrews said that when she was arrested on Wednesday she told police her job at Colony Realty was the first time she had been employed for some months. Prior to that she had been on social assistance.

SOCIAL ASSISTANCE

She was expecting a further social assistance cheque at the end of September but it didn't come because she had started work towards the end of the month.

She had four children aged eight, seven, five and a half, and four.

NECESSITIES

"She told us she had found it necessary to steal the money to provide the necessities of life for her children and herself—blankets, clothes, food and a refrigerator," he said.

In answer to a question from the magistrate the detective explained the manager had admitted he had been very lax in not examining more closely the cheques the woman had made out to herself.

"She would present him a number of cheques to be signed at the same time," he said.

"Have you anything to say?" the magistrate asked the accused.

"No sir," she replied in an almost inaudible voice.

She was remanded to appear before the court again March 29 for probation report and sentence.

LT. COL. HALL at William Head

Island Out As Douk Prison Site

Lt. Col. T. W. Hall, warden of the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster since 1960, returned to his native Victoria Wednesday during a visit to the open-type penitentiary at William Head.

An official at the New Westminster penitentiary denied a report that Col. Hall was over here looking for a site for a special jail for convicted Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists.

"We are not looking for a site on the Island," he said, "but we are looking for a site on the mainland."

The official said this was necessary since plans to build a jail in the Columbia Valley had been cancelled because of protests from residents of Chilliwack and Cultus Lake.

While in Victoria, Col. Hall visited his mother, Mrs. Florence Hall at 1121 Collinson. Educated at Victoria High School, he joined the penal service as a guard in New Westminster in 1933 and was later appointed warden of Saskatchewan Penitentiary.

Former Mayor's Will Leaves Estate Valued at $74,218

Reginald Hayward, 81, a former mayor of Victoria and Conservative member of the B.C. legislature, left gross estate to the value of $74,218, it was disclosed today.

Mr. Hayward had a life-long association with Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. Ltd., and retained his title of president until his death on Nov. 13 last.

In his will, probated at Victoria Courthouse, he left half of 147 shares in the company to his son, Reginald, and the proceeds of life insurance amounting to $1,257.

To his son, William, he also left half of 147 shares plus proceeds from life insurance amounting to $1,000.

His son, Charles, receives life insurance proceeds amounting to $1,038. The residue of the estate goes to the widow, Mrs. Isabella M. Hayward of 2140 Oak Bay Avenue.

A native of Victoria, Mr. Hayward followed his father, Charles Hayward, as mayor of Victoria and served as MLA for Victoria City in the government of Premier Simon Tolmie.

ORPHANAGE

He also followed his father as president of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, retaining this office for a number of years.

Mr. Hayward was elected a school trustee in 1913; alderman (at the top of the poll) in 1922; mayor in 1923 and first member for Victoria in 1925.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Saanich municipality will engage in a $35,000 program of sidewalk construction during the coming year.

Engineer Neville Life said the sidewalks will be gravelled first and a decision made later on as to where to use concrete.

Included are: Cedar Hill Road from Cedar Hill Cross-road to Gregory, Ruby from Gordon Head to Shelbourne, Gifford from Agnes to Carey, Shelbourne from Cedar Hill Cross-road to Pear, Quadra from Dieppe to Patricia Bay, Margold from Burnside to In-turban and Hastings from Wilkinson to Rosedale.

The Lions Club will meet at 12 p.m. on Friday in the Empress Hotel. A talk will be given by Maurice Cownden on "The History of St. Joseph's Hospital—What it Means to Victoria."

The Victoria British Israel Association will hold a prayer-praise and thanksgiving service in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, on Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. A slide show on the Windsor-convention will be shown.

A meeting of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, No. 55, will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Mark's Hall.

A man walked into a downtown department store Wednesday afternoon and stole a carton containing 14 pairs of shoes. The shoes—valued at $10.95 a pair—were taken from the main floor of the Hudson's Bay Co.

Representatives of police and firemen's unions presented a cheque for $2,057 to Cerebral Palsy Association today in ceremonies at the clinic.

The money came from receipts at a variety night Feb. 28 in Memorial Arena.

Association president Donald Anderson received the cheque. A cheque for $363 was also given by the police and firemen to the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse League.

The Cowdoy Bay Community Club is holding a bingo party Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall. The proceeds will be used in aid of sports.

A meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers will be held on Monday at 2 p.m. in the Music Room of the Public Library. Dr. R. D. Baur, PLD, professional engineer, will give a talk entitled, "Should We Worry About Fall-Out?"

Winners of a tournament conducted by the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club were: Otto Leesment, John Allen, Dora Duprau and Sam Duprau.

The Adult Education Division of the Greater Victoria School Board will present the fifth film in the "World Around Us" series entitled "Yugoslavia," at the Oak Bay Junior High School Auditorium on Friday.

The film will be narrated by the photographer and producer, Gene Wiancko. All evening seats are sold but tickets for the matinee at 4 p.m. may be obtained at the door.

Annual dinner meeting of City Hall Quarter-Century Club was held Wednesday night with 18 members and Mayor R. B. Wilson attending. Total service of the 18 civic employees amounts to 637 years. The meeting inducted Alex Johnston, supervisor of parks, who reached the 25-year milestone recently.

The Saanich Liberal Association is meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Headquarters, 1322A Government Street, Arthur Laing, former leader of the B.C. Liberal Party, will lead a panel discussion on "Liberalism, it's meaning and application to today's world."

Other panel members include: Dr. C. H. Hemming, vice-president, Saanich Liberal Association; Frank Grieve, president, Esquimalt-Saanich Federal Association.

MAJESTIC towers of Craigdarroch Castle will be lit up on Monday, April 2, at 8:45 p.m. with the pressing of a switch by Mayor R. B. Wilson. A reception will follow inside the castle. Lighting of the towers will cost $2,000 to which the Society for the Preservation of Craigdarroch Castle is contributing $1,200 and the city centennial committee $800. Admission to the lighting ceremony will be free to society members; non-members will be charged $1 and donations will be accepted at the door.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Has the blasting of Ripple Rock been a success? Can large ships now pass through Seymour Narrows at all times? A.S.M.

A. It was successful on April 5, 1958, the $3,100,000 project reached its climax when an explosion lasting nine seconds was set off. The blast was recorded as far away as Edmonton. Providing they have sufficient power to navigate the strong tides, vessels may now proceed through the 12,500 ft. wide channel at any time. During the lowest tide of the year there is 47 feet of water over the rock.

RULING ON BCE16 Die

Explosion

BURNLEY, England (Reuters)—Sixteen men were killed and 39 injured today when an explosion ripped through a coal mine near this northern English city.

Several men trapped by a gas pocket were rescued by teams of other miners. About 200 men were underground at the time of the explosion.

Judge Orders
Receivership

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Supreme Court of British Columbia today placed the B.C. Electric Company under receivership until litigation concerning the company is resolved.

The court appointed Dr. Harry Purdy, a professor of economics at the University of B.C. and former executive of the company, as receiver. He was ordered to post a bond of $1,000,000.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes made the order on application of the B.C. Power Corporation, former parent company of the crown-owned BCE.

In an 18-page judgment, the judge said there was no certainty that the assets "would remain in their present state until then I don't know much about it," he said.

The government paid B.C. Power $111,000,000 as compensation for its 3,000,000 common shares in BCE when the utility was expropriated.

The corporation, claiming $225,000,000 would have been a fair price, has an action pending in Supreme Court to have the take-over legislation declared invalid.

A bill introduced in the legislature last week would increase the compensation to $171,000,000 as the fixed and final price and would forbid any court action against the Crown company or the attorney-general without government consent. The bill has not yet been passed.

Also awaiting a vote in the legislature is a bill to amalgamate BCE and the B.C. Power Commission, another government agency, under a single power authority.

Another question before the courts is a BCE appeal against a pre-trial Supreme Court order which requires it to permit examination of certain documents by the corporation. B.C. Power says it needs this to prove that the original legislation taking over BCE is invalid.

The order applies to all the property and assets owned by the huge power utility. The receiver will have no part in BCE's management.

Dr. Purdy, president of the BCE before it was taken over by the government last August and vice-president of the publicly-owned BCE until he resigned last December, said he has accepted the appointment.

"I presume I will be getting instructions from the court but otherwise, the fruits of its victory, as I have indicated, would be barren."

"As for the Electric Company, no inconvenience can be Power Development Act is invalid nor the question of receivership."

"... There is no claim made against the electric company or against the Crown," he added. "All that is sought from the court under that branch of the claim is a declaratory judgment. If I understood counsel for the defendants, there is no question that the plaintiff has a right to seek this declaration and it will not be contended at the trial that it does not have such right."

envisaged if the powers of the trustee are limited to the preservation of property only, without authorizing or empowering such trustee to take over management of the Electric Company which should continue under the present directors and the duly appointed management officials."

The judge dismissed a submission by Charles Brazier, appearing for the BCE, that he could not appoint a receiver because of B.C. Power's action is before the Court of Appeal.

Stays at Conference

GENEVA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green decided today to extend his stay at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference until next Thursday, March 29.

Hearing
Set for Monday

By FRANK RUTTER

Government appeal against today's court order placing B.C. Electric property under receivership will be made Monday at 11 a.m. in the Vancouver Court House.

Attorney General Robert Bonner had assured reporters earlier that an appeal would be "almost automatic."

At the same time both he and Premier Bennett said the government will go ahead with two power bills in the legislature affecting the B.C. Electric takeover.

They may be pushed through the House today and tonight to protect the government's policy.

While government reaction to today's news was calm, the Opposition was fiery.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan called for an immediate election.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said it showed the B.C. Electric takeover "has been bungled beyond belief."

The two power bills before the legislature are the key to the government stand.

One finalizes the takeover compensation at $171,000,000 and preserves it against an appeal to the courts; the other merges B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission in a completely new government agency.

Mr. Bonner said the first bill is aimed specifically at protecting the constitutionality of takeover last August 1.

He feels that once this bill becomes law the government would win any court challenge to its constitutionality.

He said the bill does not prevent anyone from contesting this issue in court.

But he pointed out that the government had set its policy in the Legislature — supreme law in B.C. — and was confident it was not acting beyond its powers.

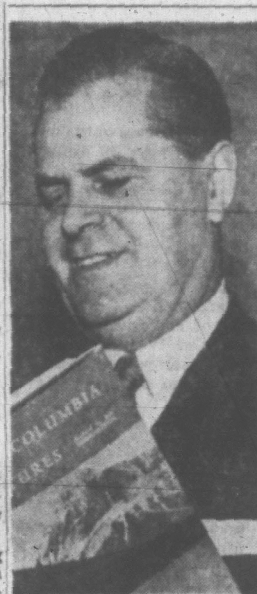

"Government policy has been announced; it is before the House; it will be maintained," he said.

"We have no desire to act beyond the Legislature's competence."

"But obviously the government believes we have acted within its competence."

One aspect of the receivership which is as yet unanswered is the effect on going ahead with the Peace River Columbia Power project alone.

PREMIER BENNETT
... "more optimistic"Columbia
Progress Reported

Premier Bennett this afternoon reported signs of progress in the Ottawa-B.C. dispute over development of the Columbia River.

He told the legislature that he had finally met Federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton on the subject.

The meeting took place in Ottawa Monday night.

Mr. Bennett also held two conferences with Finance Minister Donald Fleming on the Columbia.

In addition, he said, Mr. Fleming telephoned him from Ottawa this morning for further discussions.

"We're not only pen pals, but apparently telephone pals as well," Mr. Bennett told the legislature.

He said the Columbia talks had been "very friendly."

He said he had always been optimistic about the success of his two-river policy.

"I'm a little more optimistic today than ever before," he said.

Fleming Silent

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming declined today to comment on press reports that Premier Bennett of British Columbia has asked the federal government to allow the province to build the Columbia Power project alone.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said today he has received a letter from the U.S. government concerning the Columbia River.

He declined to provide details of its contents.

Diefenbaker gave the information to the House of Commons when asked by CCF-New Democratic party House leader whether the United States had asked the government to put the Columbia River treaty before Parliament for ratification without waiting to settle the current dispute between the federal and British Columbia governments.

Russian
Road Plan
Killed

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that access routes to West Berlin be turned over to the Communist East Germans who would control them under the supervision of an international authority, an American source said. The United States rejected this approach.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made the approach in a private conversation with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, informants said.

It seemed evident the Russians had taken an idea expressed recently by President Kennedy and turned it inside out to meet their own aims. The president had said it might be possible to work out some international arrangements for the land, air and water routes linking isolated West Berlin with West Germany, 110 miles away.

'DON'T YOU DARE' ... BUT THEY DID

Furious finger was wagged at press photographers Wednesday by flier Frank G. Penney, Los Angeles, as he walked away from the plane he had just overturned on landing at Torrance airfield. Cameramen ignored his shouted admonition. Penney, 35, and his wife, Susan, 22, suffered minor injuries. Firemen had to pry them loose from the wreckage.

The victims were James Dupray of Burnaby and Marilyn Bertram of Burquitlam. They were in separate cars.

Red Convoys Near German Border

BERLIN (Reuters)—About 380 military vehicles, including artillery, were seen in East Germany near the British sector border today, West Berlin police reported.

The convoy was moving towards the south of the city, where the Russians have a training ground, the police said. They could not distinguish whether the vehicles were East German or Russian.

No Alternative to Separate Douk Jail

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said today there is no alternative but to establish a separate prison for convicted Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

He was replying in the Commons to H. W. Herdridge, House leader of the CCF-New Democratic Party group, who asked whether Mr. Fulton had received a communication from the Nelson, B.C., Chamber of Commerce protesting the proposed project.

Spaceman Denies Radiation Sickness

LONDON (Reuters)—Russian astronaut Maj. Gherman Titov today denied reports that he was suffering from radiation sickness because of over-exposure during his 17-orbit flight around the earth last April, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

In a lecture to students at a Soviet science extension university, Titov said the radiation dose registered in the cabin of his space ship, Vostok-2, "was only 1 per cent above the mean radiation level on the surface of our planet."

Arms Deadlock Tight
Despite Green Plea

GENEVA (CP)—Canada today led a revolt against efforts to shelve disarmament discussions into the background at the Geneva conference.

External Affairs Minister Green bristled when he heard discussions on disarmament would probably be shelved.

If the talks did not go on, Green said, "all impetus" of the 17-nation conference would be lost.

Green expressed deep disappointment at the delay already incurred. Supporting a previous speaker, he said this may be the last disarmament conference of all time unless some progress is made.

Britain, Mexico and Italy all supported the call for urgency. Despite this, however, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and Russia failed completely in a subcommittee meeting to find any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

After a two-hour, 40-minute meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers to discuss a test ban, Sir Michael Wright of Britain told reporters: "We shall report that we have reached no agreement."

Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin said: "We have reached a complete stalemate... we have found it impossible to agree."

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the ceasefire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

ASHLAND, Wis.—Dog warden Jim Paiement has a cat problem.

Two years ago the city passed an ordinance requiring that dogs be tied up or walked on a leash when outside. Paiement said, adding: "Now there aren't enough dogs running around to keep the cats under control."

Unless cat owners take steps themselves, the warden said, he might have to unleash the dogs.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Lester Fox was serving a 60-day jail term today because one of his children talked out of turn during a visit by a county welfare worker. "Daddy, is this the man who is going to take away our car?" the child asked, and daddy was arrested for failure to report a change in circumstances as a relief recipient.

OTTAWA—The Senate was told Wednesday that, for the tourist, the Mounties and the changing of the guard on Parliament Hill are wearing a bit thin. Wearing equally thin, suggested Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario) are the bathing beauties in Canadian tourist advertisements.

"It seems to me," he told the Upper House, "that in bikinis all women are beautiful."

Under discussion was the senate standing committee on tourist traffic which will undertake a study of the tourist industry to determine ways to boost it.

The attractions of the West should not be forgotten, said Senator Donald Cameron (Ind. L.—Alberta). "A lot of Canadians feel they have been west if they go west of Sarnia," and they were missing a lot.

"Some of the most exciting things in Canada are happening in Alberta and British Columbia."

CHARLOTTETOWN—It looks as though the Prince Edward Island turnip is losing popularity to an Ontario brand, says Reid Sangster, provincial marketing director. "Our turnip, in my opinion, is still king taste-wise," he says, but people often buy products on the basis of appearance.

Possibly doing turnips, freezing them and packing them in transparent bags would help P.E.I. farmers sell more.

LONDON—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery tickled the House of Lords in one of his rare appearances Wednesday night, describing the training of a 21-year career army man.

"He spends seven years in bed," the Second World War leader said. "He spends three years asleep, two years cleaning his boots and equipment, at least two years waiting outside the orderly room . . . two years cleaning the barracks . . . and two years on leave."

Montgomery was questioning during a debate on defence expenditures.

LONDON—Abstract artist William Morris had a novel technique for painting "action" pictures, a London court was told Wednesday.

He borrowed a sports car and drove it backwards and forwards across a large paint-covered piece of canvas spread out on a street.

But Morris did not have a driving licence. So the court fined him 10 shillings for driving without a licence.

Morris had pleaded not guilty.

OTTAWA—Government advice to teen-agers who want to launch home-made rockets: Don't.

H. P. Kimbell, chief inspector of explosives for the mines department, said in an interview Wednesday that in 1961 three teen-agers killed themselves accidentally with home-made bombs. There were no such fatalities in 1960.

"We want more young scientists," Mr. Kimbell said, "but we want them all in one piece."

... APPEAL

power project and plans to cut electric light bills April 1.

The receivership order takes over only property of B.C. Electric and government officials hope this will not affect spending money on the Peace.

Mr. Bennett said the power bills will proceed in the legislature, but he would not say when.

He had "no comment" on the receivership action.

It is believed he will act swiftly, probably attempting to push the bills through the House tonight.

He could then summon Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes immediately to give them royal assent.

This makes them law.

There is a question that the merger of B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission would wipe out the receivership ruling, as the new legislation specifies that a new crown agency, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, will take over all assets and property of B.C. Electric.

Mr. Bennett said that was a legal question and he did not yet know the answer.

The takeover bill would probably not wipe out the court order.

It is retroactive to last Aug. 1, but Mr. Bennett said it does not rule out any appeal through the courts that the whole legislation is unconstitutional and beyond the power of the legislature to enact.

Mr. Bennett said the new bill will put the government on firm ground as to the constitutionality of the action, ruling out any question that the government had interfered with a federal company—B.C. Power Corporation, B.C.E.'s parent company.

But a challenge on constitutionality is the only type of legal action left open to B.C. Electric shareholders once the new bill is law.

Mr. Bennett said the government believed this bill removes "any question of constitutionality."

He said he was sure there will be "a series of legal skirmishes" for a long time yet.

There is also no question that the legislature can proceed with its power bills, despite the court action.

Speaker Hugh Shantz said that rules of parliamentary procedure forbid raising motions or new debate on matters before a court, but they specifically allow bills to go through, with debate.

Mr. Strachan said today's developments had put the Social Credit government into "complete chaos."

"The Social Credit government is solely to blame for this," he said.

"It results from the blundering incompetence and blind arrogance of Mr. Bennett and from the fact that the government failed to live up to the laws of the province."

He added: "Because of the chaos the only answer can be a general election so the people can elect a government that will negotiate."

There were three basic rules which should have been followed in the takeover, he said: To evaluate; negotiate; and if necessary, to adjudicate.

Mr. Perrault said the court action was the only course "to protect the assets of the B.C. Electric from being lost in a B.C. Hydro Authority omelette pending the solution of this incredible mess."

"The only way a fair decision can be reached is to permit negotiation of a price between the parties and failing settlement, to allow the terms to be determined in the courts."

"By doing this we would dispose of the many involved legal side issues and undesirable political implications."

Israeli Death Sentence Appealed by Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann's lawyer appealed to the Israeli Supreme Court today to set aside the death sentence against the former Gestapo officer on the grounds that Eichmann was brought to Israel illegally and tried under an invalid law.

Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, also asked to be allowed to introduce new evidence, and to summon new witnesses, including a high official of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Servatius asked the five-judge Supreme Court to summon Dr. Hans Globke, 63, a government councillor in Hitler's interior ministry, as an expert witness on the workings of Nazi racial laws.

Eichmann, condemned to the gallows as a major figure in the Nazi slaughter of 6,000,000 European Jews, claimed during his trial he was only carrying out orders and had pointed a finger at Globke.

Eichmann charged that Globke was directly involved in working out the legal framework for deporting the Jews and confiscating their property—the job he himself was accused of carrying out as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section. He did not ask during the trial, however, for Globke to be called as a witness.

Adenauer has repeatedly defended Globke, who claimed that while serving in the Hitler regime he saved Jews' lives even at the risk of his own.

Eichmann, 56, appeared rested after his three months in solitary confinement, since the special three-judge tribunal condemned him to death last December.

The defence counsel charged that Eichmann, who was captured by secret Israeli agents in 1960 while hiding in Argentina under an assumed name, was illegally brought to Israel for trial.

"The state is the kidnapper in this case," he declared. "The appellant cannot ask for his rights before a court of the

Servatius also contended that the law under which Eichmann was tried—the Nazi and Nazi collaborators law passed by the Israeli parliament in 1950—was invalid because it was enacted after the Nazi crimes against Jews it was designed to punish.

SEEKS OTHER WITNESSES

In addition to Globke, the defence sought permission to call as witnesses two Israeli Airline officials who allegedly took part in bringing Eichmann from Argentina. The trial court had rejected a defence request to summon them.

The hearing of the appeal is expected to take a week. The high court then will retire, probably for a month, to consider its ruling.

'SEND THIS PARLIAMENT HOME'

Tory Papers Urge Election Call

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The two leading Tory papers in Eastern Canada have come out on the same day, Wednesday, with editorials urging Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to dissolve Parliament and call an immediate election.

The Ottawa Journal states that for months it has heard reports, rumors and hints of an early election. It adds, "the time has come to turn this talk into action. To send this Parliament home."

The Toronto Telegram states:

"It is becoming increasingly obvious that members of Parliament are using parliamentary debate as a prelude to their election campaigns. It is time for the prime minister to finish quickly government business and ask for dissolution."

The Journal declares, "this Parliament as we see it, is no longer the useful legislative body needed by this country at this time; it is being degraded into a hustings — a sounding board for party propaganda."

Later in its editorial, after attacking the Opposition for taking so long to consider supplementary estimates, the Journal asserted, "Mr. Diefenbaker, no amateur in politics, surely cannot believe that he can proceed with the legislative program he has mapped out and have an early election too."

"He must know that if he proceeds with a full-fledged budget, plus a measure for re-distribution, plus a measure for Senate reform, plus a measure to abolish closure, plus other important things in the Speech from the Throne, riding in the next election, says this Parliament will still be campaign issues have been here in July, if not in August," made clear and "the public is

The Journal predicts, "this becoming increasingly bored Parliament, the Opposition in with the niggling delays and this Parliament, election fever obstructions being thrown up in its blood, is going to go on Parliament."

The Telegram, whose pub-for reform of the Senate, then lisher John Bassett will beask for dissolution and seek a Progressive Conservative can-renewed mandate from the didate in Toronto's Spadina voters."

Israel World Leader In Trade Unionism

Israel has developed the principle of trade unionism to a greater extent than any other democratic country, Vancouver MLA Arthur Turner told a meeting of Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night.

Mr. Turner, who spent several months studying Israel's government and social institutions, said all its doctors now belong to the Federation of Labor and workers' wives have a vote in their husband's trade unions.

"Youth organizations operated by the Federation of Labor have virtually obliterated juvenile delinquency," he said.

"Parents living on rural Kibbutz settlements turn their children over to the care of the village immediately they are weaned. Yet these and other harsh requirements of life are voluntary."

Mr. Turner said that Israel, a country smaller than Vancouver Island, has struggled under the weight of almost 1,000,000 new immigrants in the last 15 years.

Conditions of settlement facing the country at the beginning of the mass immigration of 1948 were so drastic that extreme measures had to be adopted by the government and the trade unions.

"They have been so successful that many of the emergent nations of Africa are patterning their systems on Israel rather than those of Britain."

He said Israel is also notable for political and religious tolerance.

Trailer Hitch Charge Thrown Out

When can vehicle equipment be legally defined as equipment? "When it's functioning," said prosecutor Angus Smith in city police court Wednesday.

Magistrate William Ostler disagreed.

The argument arose during the trial of Donald G. Collis, 4018 Douglas, charged with operating a vehicle and trailer without a safety chain.

Collis' evidence showed that the safety chain was wrapped around the trailer's towing bar but was not connected to the towing vehicle.

Mr. Smith argued that a vehicle isn't equipped with a device unless that device is functioning.

Magistrate William Ostler refused to uphold his argument. He said Mr. Collis had been charged under the wrong section of the Motor Vehicle Act.

The prosecutor asked to amend the charge. "That would be unfair at this stage of the proceedings," said Mr. Ostler.

He ordered the charge be dismissed—Mr. Collis had at this time not uttered a word in his defence.

Briton's Room Raided

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Intruders broke into the hotel room of a British correspondent here Wednesday night, smashed the telephone, tore up personal papers, notes and belongings and spilled the contents of drawers on the floor, it was disclosed today.

WONDER MACHINE recently acquired by Saanich fire department can clear up indistinct emergency message and also clear fire department from mistakes arising out of misunderstandings. Equipment at right records radio messages, that at top left telephone messages, and underneath it is automatic time announcer. It is operated here by Dick Gibson, the department's watchroom attendant.

Electronic Gadget Aids Saanich Fire Department

By HAL JONES

Saanich fire department has just invested some $4,400 in an electronic gadget to ensure a greater degree of safety both to residents and the department itself.

It's a specialized development of a dictaphone and is used to record all messages concerned with the department's emergency services.

Separate machines record radio and telephone messages, providing a non-stop, 24-hour coverage of all the department's business.

The advantages of this are numerous:

● A fire or accident victim may give the scene of the mishap indistinctly when he asks for help. The recording machine is equipped with an automatic volume control so when the message is played back the victim's words can be re-checked.

● If an excited person reports a fire but accidentally gives the wrong address and the fire department is asked to account for the delay in reaching the blaze, the recording provides indisputable proof.

There's another part to the equipment — an automatic time-announcer. It is connected to both radio and telephone recorders.

PRE-RECORDED

voice can stamp the time onto as many as eight different machines simultaneously if required.

The recorders employ substitute recording rolls so if one is out of commission or being played back the messages can still be recorded.

"It's the only one west of Winnipeg," Fire Chief Joseph Law said of his wonder machine.

"I saw the one there on my way back with the new Cadillac ambulance last year," he said.

SAVED FAMILY

Chief Law said the Winnipeg machine was known to have saved the life of a whole family. The father, overcome by fumes, had just managed to whisper out the address over the phone as he collapsed.

The message was clarified when played back and the department arrived just in time. The $4,400 price tag is practically negligible when it is realized that the equipment not only deals with Saanich fire department calls but also those of Colwood, Langford, View Royal, Central Saanich and Sidney.

Saanich police calls also will be handled when they move into the new police-fire headquarters later this year.

Polar Subsoil Data Exchanged

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Flynn said Wednesday that Canada and Russia exchange scientific information on surveys of the polar continental shelf.

He made the statement as the Commons considered supplementary spending estimates of the mines and technical surveys department.

Replying to Harold Winch (CCF-Vancouver East), Mr. Flynn said the two countries exchange data on surveys taken on subsoils of the shelf.

"Co-operation is excellent with all countries on scientific information and Russia is no exception."
